MOST LAVISH WEDDING SEEN IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Yesterday.
The most lavish wedding ever seen in Shanghai took place this morning, when Miss Butterfly Wu, the well-known Chinese film star, and Mr. Eugene Penn, a prominent Chinese business man, were married at Holy Trinity Cathedral, which was heavily cordoned by the police and transformed into a bower of flowers.

DR. TRAUTMAN'S OFFICIAL VISIT TO CANTON

Cordial Welcome By Officials

STRONG GERMAN INFLUENCE IN SOUTH CHINA

[From Our Own Correspondent]
Canton, Yesterday.
Dr. O. P. Trautman, German Ambassador to China, and his party, who arrived here last night, called on high officials here this morning. The home of Dr. Felix Altenburg, German Consul-General, is being used as their official headquarters by the Ambassador and his staff during their five-day stay in Canton.

The visit has been marked by unusual Chinese official hospitality, banquets and receptions. Ambassador Trautman will pay a visit to the famous hot spring at Chung Fa to-morrow as the guest of Dr. Otto.

The Ambassador is visiting Canton in his official capacity in view of the increasing German interests here. The head offices of many German firms are located in Canton, as German trade in South China ranks next to that of Great Britain and the United States.

One German General and other staff officers are serving as military advisers and instructors to the military here. Much of the machinery of the Government industrial plants was ordered from Germany, while the Pa Kong Arsenal is equipped with the latest apparatus from that country. German war veterans in Hong Kong will be here to-night to take part in a reception in honour of Ambassador Trautman at the German Garden Club, Tungshan.

FORMAL STATEMENT CALLED FOR NANKING'S POLICY TO JAPAN

NORTH CHINA'S "SPECIAL POSITION" SHOULD BE RECOGNISED

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Mr. Hirota is understood to have instructed Mr. Ariyoshi, Japanese Ambassador to China, to seek another interview with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, to obtain a definite formal statement of Nanking's policy towards Japan.

Well-informed persons believe that Mr. Ariyoshi was instructed to press the Chinese Government to submit substantial proposals for Sino-Japanese co-operation in a general sense; to recognise North China's "special position" adjoining Manchukuo; and to devise measures for collaboration between China, Japan and Manchukuo with a view to preventing a Communist penetration in the north and north-west.

The "Asahi Shimbun" adds that a conference between the Foreign, War, Navy and Finance Ministries yesterday afternoon decided that one of the bases of the Sino-Japanese negotiations must be a "changeover from the Chinese reliance on British and American co-operation." — Reuter.

ELECTIONS IN NANKING

Some Significant Features

PROMINENT PEOPLE FAIL TO BE NOMINATED

Nanking, Yesterday.

The elections to the new Central Executive Council and Central Supervisory Council by the Kuomintang Congress resulted in General Chiang Kai-shek heading the first 208 elected out of the total of 260 members with 495 votes.

INDEPENDENCE MOVEMENT WILL NOT BE TOLERATED

Government Prepared To Cope With Situation

Replying to enquiries from Chinese diplomatic representatives abroad, the Foreign Office is understood to have declared that any quasi-independence movement in North China would certainly not be tolerated. It is added that the Government is adequately prepared to cope with the situation. — Reuter.

to be re-elected and becomes a reserve member. — It is also significant that many close associates of Mr. Wang Ching-wel, including Mr. Tang Yu-jen, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Mr. Peng Hsueh-pai, director of the Political Affairs Department of the Executive Yuan, failed to get elected. They have another chance to-day, when the remaining 52 members will be chosen.

An interesting feature was that Mr. Hsiao Tung-tze, a director of the Central New Agency, was elected a full member of the C.E.C., being probably the first active newspaper man to obtain such a post. — Reuter.

$115,000 SPENT BY FLEEING CHAPEI RESIDENTS

Shanghai, Yesterday. Over $115,000 is the estimated sum of money which had been spent by residents of Chapei who, as a result of rumours of a pending Sino-Japanese war, have fled to the foreign concessions. — Neutral News.

NERVOUSNESS DISAPPEARING

Peking: As the days pass without developments the nervousness is disappearing. It is learned from Tientsin that General Sung Chieh-yuan continues to refuse to interview General Dohara, who is consequently not making headway.

Reliable quarters believe that changes which will meet the genuine Japanese requirements here are being planned by the Generalissimo, including the return of General Ho Ying-chin as head of the new governing body of this area. It is understood that General Ho is now considering a proposal that he should return to the North. — Reuter.

ANOTHER 19TH ROUTE ARMY?

Prepared To Resist Invasion

If the occasion arises the ex-leaders of the late Nineteenth Route Army will be able to mobilise over 10,000 regular troops within less than a fortnight, stating General Tsai Ting-kai, famous ex-Commander of the late nineteenth Route Army, in an interview with local press representatives yesterday.

General Tsai stated that if war breaks out with Japan, the former officers of the Nineteenth Route Army will all immediately respond to the call of the military authorities to fight an invasion by foreigners.

He added that every one of his army colleagues was prepared to take up arms against Japan, if another Sino-Japanese conflict should break out.

POSITION AT CHAPEI

Residents Returning To Their Homes

Shanghai, Yesterday.

Many Chinese citizens who, fearing another Sino-Japanese conflict, had vacated Chapei and the vicinity in North Szechuan Road, are returning to their former residential quarters. Almost all the Southerners are back again at their favourite haunts in North Szechuan Road. — Neutral News.

New Zealand Child To Introduce Christmas Broadcast

London, Yesterday.

In order to emphasise the great family theme of the Christmas Empire broadcast, a small child from the heart of New Zealand will introduce the King in a speech of loyalty, concluding: "Stand by for His Majesty the King-Emperor." — Reuter.

BULLET STILL IN WANG'S BACK

Will Be Extracted Shortly

GENERAL HEALTH NOT IMPAIRED

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, Yesterday.

"Mr. Wang Ching-wel is on the road to recovery, although the third bullet in his back has not yet been extracted," declared Mr. Tsao Wai-ming, M.D., L.R.C.P. (Edin), in an interview this afternoon. He arrived here last night from Nanking after treating the President of the Executive Yuan, to which Dr. Tsao is medical adviser.

"The bullet is of 22 calibre and was obstructed by a rib bone below the left shoulder," Dr. Tsao continued. "The lead will not cause any inflammation and will shortly be removed."

Asked whether Mr. Wang will return to Nanking to resume his presidency of the Executive Yuan, Dr. Tsao stated that this was quite possible, as his health has not been impaired.

The doctor ridiculed reports that the Central authorities are prepared to surrender further to Japanese incursions without resistance. He will return to Nanking after Christmas, but in the meantime he is attending to his private practice here.

DELECTIVE FIRES ON SNATCHER

Chinese Shot Down In Fife Street

VICTIM SUCCUMBS IN HOSPITAL

Considerable excitement was caused in the district near Fife Street, Kowloon, shortly after 9 p.m. last night, when a Chinese detective who was chasing a snatcher opened fire on his quarry. Six shots were fired, one of which took effect, and the man, who was taken to the Kowloon Hospital, succumbed shortly after admission.

Details of the incident are very meagre, but it was learned from an authoritative source last night that the deceased snatched a bag from a married woman, Muk Mai-ho, who was waiting for a bus in Nathan Road.

An ex-constable (Chinese) who was standing near the woman saw the incident and raised the alarm, at the same time giving chase to the man up several lanes. He shouted "Robber, robber," and his cries attracted the attention of a Chinese detective who took up the chase. On reaching Fife Street he opened fire, bringing the man down.

When the purse was recovered it was found that it only contained $1.65 in money.

CONCENTRATION OF WAR MATERIAL MUNITION DUMPS NEAR FRONT LINE

BUT ETHIOPIANS ALSO CHEERFULLY AWAIT NEXT MOVE

London, Yesterday.

The censorship and the primitive means of communications are tending to confuse the news from the various war fronts. Mr. Walter Collins, who is at Diredda, cables that a most optimistic view of the situation on the northern front prevails as a result of the Emperor's visit, in the course of which he conferred with General Nasibu at Jijiga.

They agreed upon strong resistance at Daggahbur, but the main defence will be concentrated between Jijiga and Harrar, particularly on the left flank, as it is thought that the main Italian thrust will be made along the British Somali border to a point near the Jijiga-Hargelsa road. The Negus noted with approval the numerous reserve provisions dumps west of Jijiga, which are sufficient to feed the army for at least six months.

Mr. Christopher Holmes cables from Asmara that the extent of the Italian preparations for the forthcoming great race, "Badoglio versus Sanctions," is indicated in an official statement that hundreds of tons of munitions, filling 600 trucks, are concentrated in dumps at suitable spots near the front line. A mobile ordnance repair workshop, which has hitherto carried out 3,000 repairs to different types of arms, has been moved up near the front.

Aerial reconnaissance has failed to discover the Abyssinian encampments south of Makalle, showing that the Abyssinians are learning the lessons of camouflage and scattering.

Other cables on Abyssinia will be found on Page 11.

Mr. Edward Sheepshanks reports from Addis Ababa that the excellent official news to-day greatly heartened the public, which had been dispirited by unfavourable rumours. The Emperor was so satisfied with the disposition of the troops on the southern front that he decided that no further reinforcements were necessary.

Mr. Henry Harrison cables from Djibouti that an interview with a responsible personage with the highest connections in Abyssinia, just arrived, says that the Italians need only wait and the Abyssinians will defeat themselves. (Continued on Page 17)

JELLCOE FUNERAL TO-MORROW

Body Resting In Abbey

London, Last Night.

Arrangements have been completed for the funeral service on Monday of the Admiral of the Fleet Earl Jellicoe in St. Paul's Cathedral, at which H. R. H. the Prince of Wales will represent His Majesty the King and which H. R. H. the Duke of York will also attend.

Meanwhile, the body of Lord Jellicoe is resting in the Henry VII Chapel of Westminster Abbey. This magnificent burial place of the Tudor kings is also the chapel of the Order of the Bath, and Lord Jellicoe's banner is among those which hang on each side of the chapel above the carved and painted stalls of the knights. The chapel is closed to the public while the body remains in the Abbey. — British Wireless Service.

VIOLENT STORMS IN ITALY

IMMENSE DAMAGE BY WATERSPOUTS

HUNDREDS OF HOMES ANNULATED

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL Rome, Yesterday.

Altogether 50 lives were lost and immense material damage was done by violent storms that have swept over the south of Italy unrelentingly for three days past. Waterspouts were reported from several districts, resulting in deluges sweeping down the mountainsides and sweeping all before them, 36 houses having been destroyed in this way at Galatro, near Reggio, and Calabria.

Rain is still falling in the torrents. All the rivers are in flood and numerous landslides have taken place, bridges being swept away. Altogether, in 20 of the chief villages affected several hundreds of homes have been annihilated. The Government has sent first aid rescue columns to the spot to cope with the disaster.

At Catanzaro the floods filled the railway tunnel to the town with stones and rubble. In North Sicily waterspouts caused immense destruction. In Messina fire brigades are working day and night going from village to village doing rescue work. — Trans-Ocean Service.

"EMBARRAS DE RICHESSE"

Masses Of Gold In American Vaults

New York, Yesterday.

The appalling total of $1,960,000,000 worth of gold is at present stored in American vaults, according to the latest Treasury statement, and the stream is embarrassingly increasing. Of the $125,000,000 which has flowed in since September, France contributed $72,000,000, Britain $30,000,000 and Holland $12,000,000.

The influx is viewed with some concern, as the banks are already satiated with idle money, and the vast addition threatens to encourage a potential credit inflation boom. — Reuter.

FROM RENAISSANCE TO MILITARY DASH

BROCADES AND TAFFETAS GLEAM AT NIGHT

HERE'S for a hasty jotting down of ideas. Pretty nearly anything goes. Romance is found in Renaissance, comfort in peasant, dash in military and daring in Oriental styles. The main point is to pick the thing that best suits you and your environment. For one thing, we must be grateful to designers who have indulged their fancy in the Autumn's historical review—they have done it with an eye to the figure the modern girl courts. Whether she is to appear as an angel, a Juliette, a captain of the guards, as a Scheherazade, she will do it in a slim way.

Nights will be glamorous, thanks to the brilliance of fabrics. Silver and gold-threaded brocades—the most beautiful are white or pale pink and blue—will whirl through ballrooms. They are made to drop off the shoulders and flare at the hem, or they have fullness clustered at front or back. Even taffetas are dazzling, thanks to the tenuous lines of silver and gold threaded through them.

When a frock is of plain crepe it has a wide belt studded with jewels or fastened with a buckle set with big stones. Important clips clasp it at the shoulders or finish the lowest point of the deep décolletage. Jewellers have outdone themselves in combining stones in exquisitely wrought settings.

Of Pearls

Girls will be wearing glittering touches (with moderation) even on their daytime frocks. Rhinestone scarfs complete necklines and narrow belts set off waistlines. Strands of pearls are attached at the throat of black crepe luncheon frocks, and make chokers on Juliette-like dinner dresses of black velvet. Incidentally, black velvet is shown everywhere. It is most successful in formal daytime dresses with white at the neck, and in those too-length, high-necked evening frocks that are so useful for dinner.

For daytime the most thrilling note is the military. It is a dress-parade style, with frogs and braids and cords covering the chest, and coque feathers flaunting their iridescence from the brims of jaunty hats. But not only have women cribbed from the military uniforms of men—they have adapted men's morning suits for their own wear. And it must be

BEAUTY DIARY

ESTHER

IF you like to manœuvre your nails yourself, you can't do better than invest in a manicure set. Then regularly once a week give yourself a manicure as follows: First wash your hands thoroughly in warm soapy water, and if you are wearing polish, remove it with polish remover (there is a special non-acetone remover). Next file the nails carefully with a flexible steel file. Apply a little cuticle cream round the base of each nail, and very gently push back the cuticles with an orange-stick wrapped in cotton-wool. Rinse the hands again and dry them thoroughly, then with a piece of clean cotton-wool wrapped round your orange-stick, clean under the tips. But on no account go too deeply. If you force the skin down from the nail tip, or use any sharp instrument to scrape under them, you will damage the nail, weaken it, and make the dirt collect easily under the tip.

IS your skin dry? Does it chap easily in winter, burn and tingle after a run on the beach in summer? You need to quicken the oil supply after washing. Use a soap especially prepared for your sensitive dry skin. There are plenty to choose from—pure Castile, cold cream or oatmeal and cold cream. Smooth on a good skin food afterwards if the skin feels the slightest bit stretched. As we grow older this dryness seems more marked. We need richer creams, and we need to use them nightly after washing the face. When you know your skin will be exposed to wind or sun, put on a specially protective cream or lotion before you go out.

PERHAPS you are troubled with dry pimples and roughness: then make up this recipe. To one cupful of almond meal add two cupfuls of the soap you have chosen, finely shredded, and ¼ cupful of powdered pumice. Place this on your wash cloth or bath brush, and use as you would ordinary soap. This is also good for blackheads on the body, especially if you finish off with a cold sponge down and a brisk rub with a turkish towel. If your skin is too dry, massage some almond oil into it before washing with super-fatted soap. That will make it beautifully soft.

NEWEST dress crepes—the expensive ones, of course—are ornamented with widely-spaced motifs in Japanese and Chinese characters. They give the appearance of having been worked on by hand.

Whatever the colour of the hair, don't be afraid to use a light brilliantine. There is a grand brush especially made for applying oil to the hair. You will probably be accused of stealing the silver-brush from the pantry when you acquire one, for that is exactly what the brush looks like. It has a tapered end for curling up the ends of the hair.

SLEEVES FOR EVENING

EVENING sleeves begin and end in all sorts of places. Some of the off-the-shoulder frocks have no sleeves at all, only what is virtually the top of the frock continued in a band over the arm just below the shoulder. Some do not even do this. Shoulders and arms are completely uncovered, except perhaps for a scarf or cape of tulle or something similar, which can be accepted or discarded as the wearer pleases.

Some, usually the ones with very wide and frilly skirts, begin a wide and frilly sleeve half-way down the upper arm and cut it short at about the elbow.

In spite of all the exquisite shot taffetas, and laces, spun laces, satin foulards, and crease-resisting cottons and linens, our old friends georgette, plain and starched chiffon and lace, are still with us.

The note which brings the past into close relationship with the present is the superimposing of one colour over another.

little tricks.

Butter for sandwiches will go much further and be easier to spread if it is first creamed with lemon juice, in the proportion of one teaspoonful to 2 oz. of butter. Grated lemon peel may be added, particularly for fish, meat or egg sandwiches which require a good deal of flavouring.

CONCERNING POISE

WHERE poise and good manners are concerned, complete naturalness is everything. Don't feign to be at ease if you're not—it's charming to be shy. Never pretend to be at fault with a subject you know nothing about—everybody adores explaining. Don't be perturbed when you make a mistake over the cutlery at your first dinner. Who cares, anyway? Nobody will think the worse of you for it.

And learn to be yourself. Gush if you feel gushing. Be reserved if you are reserved. Be intriguing if that's your "line," but never go around challenging attention. happen.

If you've enjoyed a party, say so. If you haven't, don't force enthusiasm but murmur "So nice of you to ask me!" "Pleased to meet you" is considered bad form, but if you are pleased to meet someone, don't hesitate to say so.

Don't approve when you really disapprove—you'll only sound sincere. And don't try to be censorious when you secretly sympathize.

Perfect poise and good manners are largely a matter of never rushing at anything. If people would only stop to think a little, half the social faux pas would never happen.

MILANESE EGGS

Ingredients. — Four hard-boiled eggs, 1oz. chopped ham or minced meat, 1oz. butter, ¼oz. flour, one small shallot, ¼ pint milk, parsley, lemon juice, egg-and-breadcrumbs.

MELT the butter in a stewpan. When thoroughly hot, stir in the shallot, finely chopped, and fry until tender.

Stir in the flour and milk and boil until it thickens—about three minutes.

Add the ham or meat, egg yolks (having halved the eggs), and salt and pepper. Put through the sieve. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and a squeeze of lemon juice.

Fill the egg whites with the mixture. Place the two halves together, roll in flour, egg-and-breadcrumbs, and fry in deep, hot fat to a golden brown.

Serve on rounds of fried bread. Garnish with fried parsley.

PEROXIDE TREATMENT

In winter, unless very well cared for, auburn and red hair lose their fire and seem to droop and become lifeless. Guard against this possibility by having a course of treatments in the autumn or devote ten minutes a day to scalp-massage yourself.

White hair at this time of the year often needs a "bluing" treatment and this should be done by a hairdresser.

If there are yellow streaks in the hair and a visit to the hairdresser is impossible, here is a way to treat them.

With an orange stick, mix two tablespoonfuls of peroxide (20% vols.) with a teaspoonful of ordinary salt. Apply every three or four days, but do not leave the application on for longer than ten minutes.

Whatever the colour of the hair, don't be afraid to use a light brilliantine. There is a grand brush especially made for applying oil to the hair. THE Hong Kong Football Club suffered a severe setback yesterday in the First Division of the local Football League when they were beaten at home by the Fusiliers, who secured a valuable brace of points to secure the leadership of the Division, a position they share with the Police.

The Recreio and the Athletic were featured in a thrilling duel at Caroline Hill which ended in a drawn encounter, both teams scoring once. As a result of the game, the Portuguese displaced the Navy, South China "A," the Lincolns and the Club in the League table.

The Fusiliers secured their fifth win in nine games in the Second Division when they beat the Recreio comfortably yesterday. They now occupy the runners-up position with South China and the Lincolns, who also won yesterday, beating the Club by 3 goals to 1 after being in arrears for threequarters of the game.

ENGINEERS LOSE

Airmen Seize Their Opportunities

The Third Division soccer encounter between the Engineers and the Air Force at the Valley yesterday proved a very little affair, the Airmen winning, quite against the run of play, by two goals to nil. Both goals were scored within the last three minutes of the match.

The Engineers should have been three up at the interval, but poor finishing by the forwards ruined many good opportunities. Solis obtained the first goal for the Air Force, five minutes from the end, when he headed in a long pass from the right.

Two minutes later, Murray intercepted a clearance by McGrath and a good "first-timer" found Coleman unprepared and the ball entered the net.

The Fusilier juniors completed the Regiment's "treble" when they beat the Medicals to secure the leadership of the Third Division from the Chinese Police, while the Air Force secured both points in their match with the Sappers to displace the Liga Portuguesa.

Exciting Struggle Forecasted

SOUTH CHINA "B" AND SAINTS SHOULD WIN

Some very fine soccer should be witnessed at Soekunpoo this afternoon when the Lincolns make their last appearance against Athletic. The Lincolns have made one change in their team, bringing in Moody for Shore at left-back, while the Chinese have reshuffled all three of their lines.

Tam Kong-pak's return to the left-back position will relieve South China supporters considerably, as his headwork will come in very useful against both Clayton's and Baldry's lobbs into the goalmouth.

The following is to-day's programme:—

Eastern v. SOUTH CHINA (Soekunpoo, 2.45 p.m.)

CLUB SCORE FIRST THEN LOSE 3-1

McGuinness "Brains" Of Lincolns' Attack

The Club made a promising start in their Second Division soccer encounter against the Lincolns yesterday, but, although holding a one goal advantage at the interval, they fell away badly during the later exchanges and eventually lost by 3 goals to 1.

The Club went ahead after 20 minutes through Caplan, who completed a swift movement between Williams and Fowler by placing the ball well wide of Taylor. English placed the Lincolns on level terms, scoring rather an easy goal when he merely lobbed over Stirling's head from close quarters. A quick move by McGuinness, who throughout had the Club defence reeling with his clever ball control, gave Sotters a chance, and his low shot from an angle gave Stirling little chance.

The third and last goal came after Stirling had magnificently saved a penalty kick taken by Martin, awarded for "hands" against Nichols. A terrific shot by Moody rebounded off the bar to Sotters, who made no mistake from close in.

"Darkie" Chan, above, the former Athletic inside-left, is reported to be staying in Shanghai permanently. He will probably play for one of the many Shanghai Chinese soccer clubs.

ENGINEERS WIN OVER KOWLOON

Howlett Scores Twice In Second Half

The Engineers enjoyed a comfortable win over the Kowloon F. C. on the Kowloon ground by three goals to nil in their Second Division soccer fixture yesterday.

After 20 minutes Darby, playing at centre-forward, notched with a fast shot. Duffield led the Kowloon forwards well, and once or twice they made promising attacks on the Sappers' goal only to be met with a sturdy defence in Slack and Willford.

In the second half the Sappers continued to raid the Kowloon goal effectively, but Olsen, in goal, played admirably, saving more than one almost certain goal.

Howlett, however, found the net for the Sappers with a fast shot from close range, and in the closing minutes the same player scored again, this time from a pass by Cullard.

FUSILIERS BEAT MEDICALS

Game Of Missed Opportunities

A very interesting soccer encounter was seen on the Valley ground yesterday when the Fusiliers defeated the Medicals in their Third Division fixture by 3 goals to 1.

Play was very keen and interesting from the commencement, but good efforts came to nought through erratic shooting near the goal area. Into the first half Singleton, receiving a short pass from Tatler, sent in a good drive to open the score for the Fusiliers.

In the second half two goals came in quick succession from Tatler for the Fusiliers.

A late rally by the Medicals reduced the lead, Tym sending in a hot shot from close range to score.

LINCOLNS SECURE TWO POINTS

Score Twice Against Railway

The Lincolns beat the Railway by two goals to nil on the Railway ground in a Third Division soccer encounter yesterday.

Despite many opportunities, the Lincolns could not score more than once in the first half, this being through a penalty kick awarded them for alleged handling of the ball by a Railway player. Berri-man took the kick and netted easily.

After the interval the Lincolns went further ahead through a good goal by Griffiths.

PRESS XI'S SOCCER WIN AT VALLEY

Giffen And Markar In Limelight

In a friendly soccer game at the Valley yesterday, a Press eleven defeated the Hong Kong Football Club third eleven by the odd goal in three after both sides had scored once before the interval.

The Press opened scoring through Loo, who went through in a solo effort, but the Club levelled the scores through Fowler, just before the interval.

In the second half, the Club had most of the play, but the

CHINESE DETERMINATION DOMINATES GAME

After a strenuous and thrilling game the Athletic and Recreio shared the spoils in their premier division soccer encounter at Caroline Hill yesterday, both sides scoring once.

Although the Recreio were the more polished side, the aggressiveness and determination of the Athletic forwards awayed the play in their favour, and had it not been for the fine defensive work of Rowen and A. V. Gosano, the result may have been very different.

The Athletic were the first to attack, but Chiu Man-chi, after receiving the ball from Leo Hung-ching, missed what seemed a very easy chance by shooting wide to the left of the upright. The Recreio immediately carried the play into the Athletic half and, after clever short passing by Beltrao, Castilho and B. Gosano, Gomes was presented with a chance to score with an excellently judged shot from 20 yards.

The Recreio forwards, however, seemed much too slow, Alves keeping the ball much too long, in view of the speedy play on the part of Athletic.

The Athletic equalised a quarter of an hour later from a pass by Leo Hung-ching which landed immediately in front of the Recreio goalmouth, for Yeung Kan-po to send in a shot which Marques had little hope of saving.

Towards the end of the first half the Recreio speeded up their play and Castilho sent in a shot which seemed a goal, but Siu Tin-lin, the Athletic custodian, saved well.

Leo Hung-ching, whilst working hard, had a tendency to keep the ball instead of passing, with the result that he was on several occasions robbed before having had time to centre.

Castilho and B. Gosano were the best of the Recreio forward line, while in the Athletic forward line Yeung Kan-po and Au Ping-ming were outstanding. Bowen and A. V. Gosano rendered yeoman service in the Recreio defence.

Athletic: Siu Tin-lin; Mak Sut-hon and Fu Kah-hing; Ho Cher-yin, Lai Kwok-chiu and Lo Wai-koon; Tang Kwong-sun, Yeung Kan-po, Au Ping-ming, Chiu Man-chi and Leo Hung-ching.

Recreio: R. Marques, J. Brown and A. V. Gosano; V. Marques, N. Beltrao and N. Delgado; C. Marques, T. Castilho, B. Gosano, J. Gomes and A. Alves.

ATHLETIC FAIL IN FRONT OF GOOD

Radio Share Spoils In Exciting Game

DE SOUZA AND ARCULLI SHINE

After an exciting game in their Second Division soccer fixture yesterday at Caroline Hill, the Athletic and the Radio shared two goals.

De Souza and Arculli, the Radio backs, played excellently in the face of heavy pressure by the Athletic forwards, and on the countless occasions when the ball was shot from a distance Hussan, in goal, defended splendidly.

The Radio opened the scoring after an excellent passing bout between Ahmed and Ozim, the Radio left wing, Omar finding the net with a nicely timed shot.

Thereafter, the majority of the attacking was carried out by Athletic, but, although their passing was good, their shooting was extraordinarily weak at close quarters.

The Athletic equalised from a penalty in the second half, Lo Wai-man taking the kick.

Press went further ahead with a goal from Abbas, who scored during a melee.

The outstanding performer was G. W. Giffen, the Press right-back, although Gray, at inside-right, and Markar at left-half, also shone.

Stevens and Fowler were the pick of the Club.

R. Marques, above, played a splendid game in goal for the Recreio against the Athletic at Caroline Hill yesterday.

FUSILIERS ROUT RECREIO

Coakley Scores Four Of Five Goals

The Second Division soccer encounter between the Recreio and the Fusiliers at the Valley yesterday proved a very tame affair, the soldiers winning a one-sided game by 5 goals to 1. Coakley scoring the "hat-trick", and an additional goal.

The Fusiliers opened the scoring after four minutes, Parry taking a corner kick to place the ball right in the centre for Coakley to drive the ball inches inside the upright.

Coakley had bad luck in the next moment when he skinned the bar with a fine shot after receiving from Jones.

The second goal was scored 10 minutes later, Coakley again taking a pass from Parry to net in his stride.

Just before half time the Recreio made a breakthrough to the other end, and Demee found the net from three yards' range.

Ten minutes after the resumption Silva haggled in the area "and Coakley took the 'spot' kick and made no error to complete his "hat-trick".

A few minutes later Coakley initiated a fine movement, which culminated in Parry centring for Cresty to head the ball past Fernandez.

Ten minutes from the end the Fusiliers were awarded another penalty for a foul against Cak'ev, and, after two attempts, Coakley found the net to give the Fusiliers their fifth goal.

FIELD 10 MEN FOR HALF THE GAME

TWO GOALS IN FIRST EIGHT MINUTES

CUP-TIE EXCHANGES

THE Fusiliers played like an inspired side in their premier League soccer encounter against the Club yesterday, and won the most exciting game yet seen this season by the handsome margin of 3 goals to 1—and this with only ten men for over half of the game!

The exchanges were more in the nature of a "Cup-tie" than a mere League match, robust, yet clean, tackling, fast and accurate passing, and shots from all angles, well on the mark, being features of 70 minutes of rousing football.

For the losers Rodger put up a grand show in goal. Time and time again he alone stood between the Fusiliers and a goal, yet he somehow managed to keep the score down. His save from Talbot's surprise drive near the end was perhaps the best of the game.

Sykes and Sid Strange played well, but were forced to kick anywhere against the swift moves of the Fusilier forwards. The halves found it impossible to hold the repeated attacks, and could render, but little assistance to their own forwards.

Forrow played well at centre-half, sending out many useful passes to his wings, but his tackling was slow. Skinner and Gilchrist, the wing-halves, up against two fast forwards in Roberts and Hughes, seldom came off best in their many duels, and, altogether, the Club defence underwent the most gruelling time it is ever likely to face.

EXCHANGE OF SPOONS

The first encounter arranged between bowling members of St. George's Society and St. Andrew's Society was played on the Kowloon B.G.C. green yesterday afternoon, when the Scotsmen overwhelmed the Englishmen by 64 shots—153 shots to 89.

At the conclusion of the match Mr. G. S. Archbutt, the President of St. George's Society, thanked the winners for a very enjoyable afternoon's bowling. The Hong Kong Cricket Club avenged last Saturday's defeat at the Kowloon C. C. when they beat the K.C.C. by 25 runs in another friendly encounter on the H.K.C.C. ground.

The feature of the match was provided by A. T. Lay, the K.C.C. opening batsman, who collected 155 runs out of 112 in 64 minutes. Last week he scored 117, following a knock of 71 against Shanghai. Yesterday Lay was seen in a subdued mood at the start, but later he came out of his shell to hit 10 boundaries.

Set the task of scoring 180 in 107 minutes, the visitors went for the runs and were beaten only in the last over, when still 25 runs in arrears.

Duckitt, favoured by a stroke of luck before he had scored 20, when he almost played on from a mis-hit, played a useful innings for 76 runs, scored out of 119 in 71 minutes. He hit 13 boundaries.

Alec Pearce, who scored 71 last week, battled for 64 minutes for his 68, scored out of 139. Opening very cautiously, he later hit nine boundaries in a polished innings.

GARTHWAITE 6 FOR 42

An undefeated last wicket partnership, which realised 31 runs, between Y. el Arculli (24) and K. Nazarin (6) enabled the Indian Recreation Club to win their First Division league cricket match against the Army at Soekunpoo yesterday, the game being concluded in very bad light.

The Army batted first but found Pereira bowling very accurately. Three wickets were down for 18 when Dawson and Bonavia became associated in a partnership which realised 67 runs. Dawson played very bright cricket to score 45, including ten boundaries, while Bonavia batted patiently for 28. Cpl. Ballard then helped with an extremely useful 35, in the course of which he found the boundary on six occasions.

The Indians lost their first wicket at 23, and slow scoring almost lost the match for them. With their last pair in they needed 28 runs to win.

Garthwaite bowled unchanged throughout the innings, and his 6 wickets for 42 runs were thoroughly deserved.

GOLD-MINING IN SIBERIAOnly Alluvial Beds
Known At PresentThe End In Sight Unless Reefs Are Found

(By MALCOLM BURR, D.Sc., A.R.S.M.)

THE Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, sprawling over one-sixth of the earth's surface, is the second largest gold producer in the world.

The British Empire produces considerably more gold than the rest of the world put together, and Russia, as we may more conveniently call the U.S.S.R., for long occupied the third place. But by her great national effort during the past six years she has been steadily gaining on her rival, the United States of America.

By 1932 they were neck and neck, and in 1933 Russia overtook the U.S.A. Last year the total Russian output was not far short of double that of the United States, and not so very far short of the total output of the rest of the world together, excluding, of course, the British Empire.

To put it in figures, the total output of the world in 1934 was 27,400,000 fine ounces, of which no less than 10,480,000 came from South Africa, out of the total of 16,229,000 for the whole of the British Empire. Out of the 11,171,000 ounces produced by the rest of the world, Russia contributed no less than 4,224,000 ounces, compared with the American output of 2,586,000.

Russian Fields

These are formidable figures, but the most striking feature about them is the steady increase in the Russian production. The richest field in Russia, generally known in Europe as the Lena Goldfields, is on the plateau between the rivers Olekma and Vitim, tributaries of the Lena. Work began here in 1843, and by 1919, the latest date for which I have accurate figures, the total amount won was 597 tons, representing a value, at the then price of gold, of something over $70,000,000.

During their brief occupation of the Lena Goldfields, the English management cleared away the growth of economic fungus, and put the enterprise on a sound footing. The figures for the following years for the Russian output, in which no doubt Lena played its due part, are instructive. They were:

1928	890,000 fine ounces
1929	1,085,000 "
1930	1,434,000 "
1931	1,701,000 "
1932	1,990,000 "
1933	1,990,000 "
1934	2,316,000 "
1935	4,224,000 "

During this period the output of the United States remained between 2,100,000 and 2,586,000 ounces. With these figures we may compare the maximum figures for the record year 1932, when Canada produced 3,044,000, and the Union of South Africa no less than 11,569,000 fine ounces.

Alluvial Workings

The Russians excel in theory, but in practice are weak. Their methods of mining are backward. Practically their entire output is from alluvial workings, and it is hard indeed to find a Russian mining engineer with any experience of reef mining other than on a trifling scale.

The goldfields of the old Imperial demesnes were based almost entirely upon what is known as the "tributary" system, that is by leasing claims to small workers or "tributors," or, as they are called in Alaska and the Galinas, "pork-knockers," men who scratch the ground and eke out a precarious existence by the same primitive methods that have been in use since Neolithic man.

These free-lances, known in Russia as starateli, are individualists, admitting at the most a few partners into their confidence, for the co-operative spirit of the Slav generally leads them to form artels or syndicates. These pay a licence for the privilege of working small streams or old dumps too poor for big-scale operations. They are an independent stamp of man, and theirs is a fine, free life. In the recesses of the taiga, that vast primeval forest that covers half northern Asia, they have only Nature with whom to contend, and she is less cruel than man. Yet probably they all end by leaving their bones among the larches.

Another category of gold-seeker is the unlicensed prospector, in reality a poacher. These are men who slip off into the taiga, glad to be free of the wretchedness of urban life in Soviet Siberia.

The stern climate, the scarcity of food, the danger of the work—the risks are great indeed. With their simple devices and scant labour the most they can do is to scratch a bit here and there and, perhaps, report a good find. Then they run the risk of severe penalties for unlicensed work.

On the Lena the gold occurs in deep leads—that is, ancient river beds buried under a hundred or a hundred and fifty feet of later accumulations. This involves expensive mining work, drifting through the old gravels, with the most massive and costly timbering I have ever seen.

The gold is coarse and nuggets are fairly common, though prolonged prospecting never found either fine gold or the original source. During my presence on the mines a nugget weighing sixteen pounds was found, representing in these days a value of about $1,000. But it never reached the office.

The mining places a perpetual temptation before the men, and, in spite of all precautions and a special staff of detectives, the volume of pilfering is considerable.

Stolen Gold

The Tsar's Government recognised this years ago, and, in order to prevent the flow of gold out of the country, agreed to wink at theft, provided the actual gold were put into circulation. State institutions, co-operative stores, mine canteens and similar establishments would take gold in payment in lieu of coin or notes at a rate fixed about 10 per cent. below the value of the currency, and no questions asked.

This was very profitable for the traders, that is, nowadays, the Government, for they sell their goods at the same nominal prices, and so make a handsome additional profit. A special technical word was coined to denote gold thus tendered, one of those long words of which the Russians are not afraid; voluntarily offered, which may be translated as "voluntarily offered."

This custom was in my time, and probably still is, general throughout Siberia. In some mines, where the cost of winning the precious metal leaves a narrow margin for profit, the authorities welcome the influx of such stolen gold in the canteens, as otherwise it would be a total loss.

The End In Sight

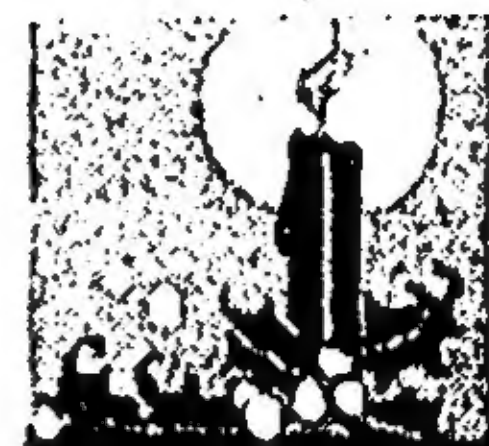

As to the future? It seems that almost the whole of the taiga is gold-bearing, and there is gold in many other parts of the Soviet Union. With their methods the Soviets may press their output upwards still higher. But the effect is only to hasten the end, for the amount of gold available is finite. Large areas in the Olekma-Vitim plateau were worked out long since. Mining by drifting on the Lena was probably finished eight years ago. Yet so rich is the field that there is still scope for big profits by dredging.

There must be throughout that vast area still a huge supply of gold to be won from the streams and deep leads. But unless the Soviets can open up a perpetual auriferous reef, the end of their gold resources is in sight.

If anyone failed to enjoy the Art Club's Annual Show last week that was because he went to see it in the wrong frame of mind. We have now a Travel Association, and we have some funds for making Hong Kong better known as a place of beauty. Here are a "faithful remnant"—that have not bowed the knee to Mammon, but have seen the beauties, whether in landscape or in the human figure, that others are content to talk about, and have been inspired with the wish to record what they saw. They receive nothing but discouragement, official and otherwise. They made a brave attempt to have a studio where the less experienced can benefit by advice and example, as happens in Paris and London, but not even the University will give them anywhere to rest their foot—or easel.

FOES OPEN & OTHERWISE

ALWAYS there are two ranks of foes to be met by those who, because they may not get all the conditions they would like, are not content to do nothing. There are the Philistines and the Highbrows. The Philistines are the less formidable. They pay their fifty cents for admission, have a look round, and buy a sketch that reminds them of some scene they know. They say they know what they like, and what they like is the familiar. Why not? Even Aristotle recognized the genuineness of the "pleasure of recognition." Pictorial art, like heaven, has many mansions, and there does not seem to be any reason why we should all crowd into one of them. We should, as a matter of fact, be much more ignorant of ancient life if only the masterpieces had survived. The walls of Pompeii and Herculaneum were not frescoed by masters.

THE PICTURES SHOWN

UNDOUBTEDLY the strongest work shown was by the three young Chinese painters, Messrs. Luis Chan, Lee Byng and Wong Sui Ling. Unconsciously they are doing exactly what the Club is intended to encourage, by developing a technique which takes from the West what seems to fit into the Eastern temperament. A critical remark made on the first named was that somebody ought to pay for him to go abroad and learn how to paint like a foreigner—presumably French. Why? All that he needs is a little wider experience that he could easily gain from anyone in Hong Kong that can paint better. It was remarked on the second that he ought to have a name that would indicate that he is Chinese. Why? Because no one with an English name can paint? Mr. Wong showed a design for mural decoration which is a specimen of the work he is doing on the walls of the Cecil Hotel, which is immensely better than the hurried and stilted designs that the Bank has had done for it by an imported artist, which has driven the admirable lions at the main entrance into a permanent roar of protest. As records of things seen, what could be more interesting than Lt. Commander Dallson's sketches of those inaccessible creeks up which he alone knows how to push his gunboat? I have no space to mention the exhibits of the regular members, with whose work we are familiar, except to say that it is not reasonable to expect that they should all paint in a style that happens to be someone else's.

HIGHBROWISM

THE insidious discouragement of the highbrow attitude to amateur art is a psychological disease. If it were coupled with a willingness to do better work and show it as an example or to help others by advice, there would be no

JOY OF THE LORD THERE IS HAPPINESS IN REAL RELIGION GIVING STRENGTH AND JOY TO OTHERS

(By the Rev. J. N. Lewis Bryan)

IT is a strange thing but undeniably true that, while everybody agrees as to the wholeness of joy and the duty of it, in the ordinary sense of the term, when the "joy of religion" is mentioned, it seems completely to alter its character and in fact to spoil it, or turn it into a joy which is not true joy at all.

And this is an absolute injustice to the Father Love of God. "The joy of the Lord," as one of the Old Testament prophets calls it, is not different in quality from wholesome human gladness; it is, in fact, just that gladness deepened and sanctified by the sense of God and the knowledge of Him brought to us by Christ our Lord.

There is not a single innocent and pure source of gladness open to men and women on this earth but is made to taste sweeter when they have opened their hearts to the love of God. Once we have dared to accept the wonderful truth that the Eternal Father has His place and His plan and His care for each one of us, then every common joy of living, every delight in the beauty of the world and the pleasures of home and work and friendship—every one of these takes on a keener edge.

The "Joy Of The Lord"

It is nothing less than heresy to declare that because a man is a Christian he has to walk through life with an outward appearance that would turn milk sour in the depth of winter. On the contrary there is no one who has a better right to be joyous and happy-hearted. What is the good of translating "Gospel" as "good news" and at the same time living as though religion were a bondage and a burden grievous to be borne?

Of all the strange twists of human conventions it is surely the strangest to allow ordinary human joy to be happy and cheerful, and to insist that those whose joy is in the service of God should have faces as long as fiddles and crawl through life to some funeral march. The "morning face and the morning heart" belong of right to the truly religious, and no one has the right to be happier, come what may, than the man who has made thing to say, but it is not really an artistic attitude at all, if art is the power to reveal beauty. Whistler had a struggle with the Philistines (led by Ruskin) for the right to show the beauties of night, and he won, as every genuine revelation will win. The "superiority" that rouses one's ire is another thing altogether. It derives from the picture dealers, who must always have some new style to boom because they have sold out the specimens of old styles that they bought cheap. The history of the sale-rooms is strewn with examples. One hears nothing now of Corot and the Fontainebleau school. They are sold. Rousseau seemed to the Philistine merely a man who had no technique at all; this was the "nivete of the peasant." He is now sold, and the dealers agree with the Philistines. Then there was van Gogh, poor devil, who was undoubtedly starved because no dealer would give him ten francs for a picture. His devoted brother, himself a dealer, accumulated scores of his pictures, which he was unable to sell. Then the brother died, his stock was bought up cheap, and the unfortunate starved and epileptic genius became at once a master selling for thousands of francs. The whole system, with the beautiful reproductions in monthlies owned by the dealers, is as much a commercial speculation as that gives each of the shares in what is called "its stable" a run in turn. And there is no use our trying to satisfy the local highbrow, for the conditions of success are that one's name must not look English, and that one must be dead.

the highest and best use of his little life that he can make.

Religion Should Be Joyous

There is enough sorrow and misery in the world without religion coming along in a poke-bonnet and wearing elastic side-boots. A gloomy, ponderous, stiff religion which looks askance at innocent merriment and is afraid to pull a deep breath of enjoyment has the mark of "damaged goods" upon it somewhere, and no one will take it off your hands. It is not catching, and certainly your children will not catch it.

It is said to be a good test of religion that it can be preached at the street-corner. But a better test than that is to preach it to a child. Set him in the midst of those who profess it. If their religion frightens him, freezes the smile on his lips and destroys his happiness, you can depend upon it, whatever sort of religion it is, it lacks the essential wholeness of the religion of Jesus Christ.

Infectious Happiness

The man in whose heart there lives the greatest joy of all is a strength to other people. Who is there who has not been helped again and again by contact with some cheery and hearty soul? Who, for instance, would choose for his family doctor a man with a dismal face? A doctor's cheery manner is as potent a cure as many of the bottles we buy at the chemist's. When we are in trouble and our hearts are sad and sore, we would rather see a friend whose faith in God showed in a brave and buoyant outlook than one whose religion was cheerless and dispiriting.

I have read of an employee who had the gift of such a joyous heart that his smile was worth £100 a year to his firm. As a matter of fact the money value might have been set at any figure, seeing that the thing itself is really priceless. It was Stephen, himself an apostle of the duty of happiness, who declared that "by being happy we sow anonymous benefits," and that "the entrance of such a person into a room is as if another candle had been lighted."

But, more than that, it is a strength to oneself. It may not be so obvious, but the result is even more certain. Ordinary experience tells us that joy is good for us, that depression and gloom work us definite bodily harm: From one province of scientific study alone there has come a wonderful array of evidence that makes it as certain as any fact can be, that happy states of mind do, literally, add to our strength in quite measurable dimensions. There is, in strict fact, no tonic in the world like gladness.

Necessity Of Joy

All this being the case, joy, and especially the "Joy of the Lord," is not a luxury, not a condition you may legitimately cherish if you are fortunate enough to possess it. It is a sheer necessity. We cannot do without it. Even to meet our sorrows, even to gird us for service, even to run the race without fainting, we need that joy which is our strength.

And, since the Father has stored up such an abundant supply of it in this world of His, since it is knocking at our doors every day and only our distrust and suspicion keep it outside, we know what to do if we want to secure it. We have only to open our hearts to let it in.

"So take joy home
And make a place in thy great heart for her,
And give her time to grow, and cherish her.
Then will she come and oft will sing to thee
When thou art working in the furrows—ay,
Or wedding in the sacred hour of dawn.
It is a comely fashion to be glad—
Joy is the grace we say to God."
When we have learned that fact, our religion will once more become infectious.

THE FLOODS IN HSUCHOW

Situation Still Menacing

Hsuehchow, Yesterday. In spite of the frantic efforts of the local Government and people towards its relief, the flood situation in Pehsien has not been improved.

The flood waters in the north-west and south-east parts of the city are now three feet in depth. More leaks have occurred in the city walls, through which the flood waters engulfing the city are flowing in.

A large number of pumps have now been secured to pump out the flood waters inside the city.

A great part of the Lunghai Railway, in North Kiangsu, is reported to be still threatened by flood waters.—Central News Agency.

HUNTING TRIP TO D. E. INDIES

Lord Moyne and Party

AMSTERDAM TO SINGAPORE BY K. L. M. PLANE

Lady Broughton, Viscount Elveden and Lord Moyne, the well-known big-game hunters, left Amsterdam on November 6 on board the eastbound K. L. M. plane. They are flying to Singapore, where they will join Lord Moyne's yacht and make a cruise through East Indian waters.

On January 3 last, Lady Broughton and Lord Moyne left by K. L. M. for Rangoon, from where they travelled through the Indian Archipelago. Their object was to capture a Varanus Comodoensis (Ouwens), the famous giant salamander, which is only to be found in one spot in the world, namely, the little Isle of Comodo near Flores in the East Indian Archipelago. Hunting the animal is forbidden, but a special permit of the Dutch East Indian Government was granted to them, and they have been able to seize a little specimen, which has been taken to England.

On April 11 Lady Broughton and Lord Moyne returned to England by the K. L. M. plane "Ricebird," now they are on another long journey.

Experimental Landing At Penang. Captain J. J. E. Duimelaar, of the K. L. M. Royal Dutch Air Liner Fokker Douglas DC 2 "Kwak," who left Amsterdam on October 5, made a first experimental landing on the Penang aerodrome. At Penang the airport of Bayan Lepas has just been opened. One side of it faces the sea, and the airport has a metalled runway.

On October 24 Mr. Duimelaar had returned to Amsterdam. If his opinion about the suitability of the aerodrome is favourable, other experimental landings will be executed in order to see whether Penang could eventually be made a definite point of call.

FINGER-PRINTS AS EVIDENCE

Returned Banishee Sentenced

Wong Tak-cho, an unemployed, was yesterday sentenced to two months' hard labour by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistrate's Court for the theft of six pounds of lead from the Tai Koo Dockyard at 5 p.m. on Friday.
He was sentenced to a further eight months' hard labour for returning from banishment.
After the charge had been read out, defendant denied having been banished and said it was his brother, Sergeant McKay testified that defendant's finger-prints were the same as those of one "Wong Sam," who had been sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment in February, six weeks in May and banished for 10 years in June this year.
In reply to the magistrate Sergeant McKay said that there was no record of finger prints of different persons, even brothers, being similar.

L/Serjt. Hayward told the Court that he found the lad in Jordan Road and as he did not appear to know what to do with the car, he was asked whether he had a licence and answered in the negative.

A fine of $5 was imposed on the second count, charges 1 and 3 being withdrawn against the boy.

LIONS LOOSE IN VILLAGE

Butcher Torn To Pieces In France

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Exciting scenes occurred yesterday at the little village of Bagnolles-sur-Cèze, where two lions escaped from a travelling circus and killed one person before they were finally shot after a thrilling hunt in which the entire male population of the village took part.

The lions broke loose during the night and, after killing a horse, hid in a thicket just outside the village. When the village butcher and his assistant passed by the spot shortly after daybreak the two beasts sprang forward and tore the butcher to pieces, while his assistant succeeded in fleeing and giving the alarm.—Trans-Ocean Service.

The Hong Kong Naval Base

THE death of Lord Jellicoe, who was the only man who has had the opportunity of fighting a "Fleet Action" under modern conditions, raises a query in the back of one's mind whether any other man will ever have a similar opportunity. When Admiral Togo sank the Russian Fleet he had issued from his own base with everything thoroughly shipshape to meet ships that had left their own ports many weeks before, and that had only been able to take in necessary stores at ports of call under the restriction laid upon neutrals that they must leave again within twenty-four hours. The panic in the North Sea, when they began to fire broadsides at harmless fishing boats, was poor augury of their fighting quality. Admiral Beatty was then in command of the Channel Fleet, and his request for orders was "Shall I sink them or tow them?" It was resolved to let them go on their voyage, but when they reached the Yellow Sea their hulls were festooned with seaweed several feet long. What is the chance of another Fleet Action in Oriental waters?

It is of course very largely a question of bases. No such action will take place far enough from a base for the ships to be unable to refit, and there are only three Navies—the British, the American, and the Japanese—that have to be considered. The American Government under the Democratic influence, and probably as a permanent policy, is seeking to minimise the chances of conflict: the British Government has certainly no territorial ambitions out here. It seemed the merest common sense at the Washington Conference of 1921-2, to agree to the status quo in the Pacific both as to ships and fortified bases: it is the ratio of strength, not the gross figures, that counts. The one really sensible innovation in international affairs that has been achieved in the post-war years is the Washington Treaty, in terms of which Hong Kong was to remain as merely an advanced base for cruisers and lighter craft. That treaty will end in 1936, and provided that a conference should be held in 1935 to consider the question of renewal. No further explanation is required for the conference that is shortly to be held in London, in spite of the fact that Japan has given notice of repudiation of the treaty at the earliest date, but its convocation is an act of faith, and all the nations that will take part have already given notice that the principle of restriction is too sensible for their liking.

From the British point of view it is a satisfactory precaution to finish off the Singapore base, which will place the Fleet on the flank of the route to India or Australia, but the lapse of the treaty will not improve the security of Hong Kong. It is true that the sea is one, and that any enemy that interferes with any part of the Empire must sooner or later expect to have to deal with the heavy ships. But what would be going on in the interval before the battle fleet got busy? Their entry into these waters would itself be regarded as a menace of war. Even the last American manoeuvres made quite a lot of unrest, though the distance was even greater. And the smaller ships would merely be regarded as subsidiary to the main fleet.

The equality demand is really a demand for supremacy in the East, for under no circumstances could all the British ships or all the American ships be sent out so far. Yet Japan will not agree to any other basis of limitation. There is still the question of the Pacific bases, and the mandated islands are certainly in positions that could, if fortified, make it very difficult for the American fleet to take any action in the East at all. The Secretary of State refuses to discuss any question but that of ships. Would it not be possible to give that concession while renewing the "neutralisation" of the bases? It is bad enough to risk the chance of rivalry in ship-building: why add the further rivalry of fortification?

What do Japanese statesmen mean when they defend various acts of apparent aggression on the ground that it is their mission to maintain the "peace of the Far East"? A war with Russia would be a land war. Even if anyone had the ambition to emulate Admiral Rosdstevsky, it would take twenty years before enough ships could be built to give him a chance. Who then is supposed to be aiming at disturbing the peace? What are supposed to be the motives or the goal? What possession or policy is causing the suspicion? Is it the fortification of Singapore? If so, what future action does Singapore menace? These are questions that it would be very useful to have discussed, if the representatives of the Powers could be got to talk frankly. But frank discussion is the one thing that would end war, and at present all the talk is of preparing for war, not ending it.

Hong Kong Personalities

Mr. A. el ARCULLI, J.P.

This is the sixty-ninth of the exclusive series of sketches of leading Colony residents by Mr. A. S. Kony, the talented Hungarian artist.

OUR Personality this week is Mr. Abbas el Arculli, the well-known local solicitor.

Mr. Arculli is a true son of Hong Kong, having first seen the light in the Colony on June 9, 1891, and received his education at Queen's College. Articled to the late Mr. E. L. Agassiz, he was admitted a Solicitor of the Supreme Court of the Colony on May 24, 1914 and enrolled a solicitor of the Supreme Court of England on December 1, 1927.

As one of the leading men of the Moslem community Mr. Arculli has always taken a keen interest in all matters affecting the welfare of the Indian residents of the Colony. He was instrumental in forming the Indian Recreation Club and the building of the pavilion, and has been president of the club since 1923.

All-round Sportsman

Interested in various forms of sport, Mr. Arculli was cricket captain of the I.R.C. from 1922 to 1926 and also represented the Club at tennis in League matches. Other forms of sport to which he devoted a share of his energies were riding and boxing; and it is interesting to note that "Iron" Bux, a former pupil of the Anglo-Indian School at Sookunpo, who afterwards became feather-weight, light-weight and welter-weight champion of the Orient, learnt his boxing from Mr. Arculli.

Joining the Hong Kong Police Reserve which was formed at the outbreak of the Great War, Mr. Arculli proved their champion rifle-shot and was appointed musketry sergeant of the corps. In 1918 he took part in the famous Gresson Street siege, when two European police-sergeants and a Chinese detective were shot dead in an attempt to arrest some armed robbers who had been traced to a house in the street, the robbers being finally disposed of by the bombing of their retreat.

Ambulance Services

Mr. Arculli now holds the rank of District Officer in the St. John Ambulance Brigade, which he joined in 1925. In 1931 he received promotion and the special thanks of the Grand Prior for his splendid work in succouring the injured at the time of the Shatin disaster, on the Kowloon-Canton Railway, on April 30. He again received special thanks from the London Headquarters for first-aid work rendered in Yau-mat on the night of the outbreak of the anti-Japanese riots in September 1931.

He has been a member of the Board of Education for several years and has always kept a fatherly eye, unofficially, on the Anglo-Indian School, Sookunpo, in particular. In addition, he has been a member of the executive committee and finance sub-committee of both the Society for the Protection of Children and the Children's Playground Association since their inception.

SANCTIONS AGAINST ITALY

EXPLANATORY NOTICE ISSUED

PROVISIONAL INTERPRETATION LAID DOWN

THE following communiqué concerning sanctions against Italy, under Article III of the Treaty of Peace (Covenant of the League of Nations) Order, 1935 is issued by the Colonial Secretary's Office for general information:—

Article 3 of the Order is to come into operation on a date to be appointed by the Treasury, and the Treasury have to-day made an Order appointing Tuesday, October 29, 1935, as the date on and after which the Article shall have effect.

1. The Interpretation of the provisions of the Order-in-Council in their application to individual cases is a matter of law on which a final decision, in any case of doubt, can only be given by the appropriate Court of Law. Subject to this, the following explanation of Article 3 of the Order is published for the assistance of bankers, traders and the public generally.

LOANS AND CREDITS

2. Article 3 applies to loans and credits to or for the benefit of:

(i) the Government of any Italian territory;

(ii) any person (not being a body corporate) of whatever nationality resident in such territory;

(iii) any person (wherever resident) being a body corporate incorporated under the law of any such territory.

The above are referred to in this Notice as "Italians" (s). The phrase "non-Italians (s)" is used to mean any other person, corporation or Government.

It must be observed that Italian nationals resident outside Italian territory are excluded from the provisions of the Order, but that branches in other countries of corporations incorporated in Italian territory are included. Conversely other nationals (including British) resident in Italian territory are included under the provisions of the Order, but branches in Italian territory of corporations incorporated in other countries are excluded.

PROHIBITED BUSINESS

(a) Prohibited Business. Generally speaking, the following business is prohibited by the Order:—

(i) Loans, advances and guarantees to or for the benefit of "Italians".

FIVE YEARS AGO

(Extracts from the Sunday Herald of November 22, 1930).

Arrangements are being made for a concert at the Theatre Royal in aid of the funds of the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital. The programme is being arranged by Mr. F. Mason, while the following ladies have consented to assist: Mrs. Snowden Jones, Mrs. R. H. Gregory and Mrs. F. T. Portallion. The total number of persons vaccinated by the St. John's Ambulance Brigade during the three weeks of its campaign is 20,226.

A farewell concert was given at St. Patrick's Club to the Somerset Light Infantry, who are leaving Hong Kong early in December. Among the artistes were Misses D. and P. Hunt and Miss S. Hyndman.

"HERALD" CALENDAR

November 28, 1867.—Great fire in Hong Kong.

November 29, 1900.—Blake Pier opened.

November 29, 1921.—First meeting of the S.P.C.A. Hong Kong branch.

November 30, 1872.—St. Joseph's Church consecrated.

November 30, 1892.—Japanese warship Chishima sunk after collision with P. & O. steamer Ravenna in the Indian Sea.

November 30, 1911.—Armistice between China revolutionaries and Imperialists.

November 30, 1922.—British postal agencies in China closed.

(ii) Acceptance or endorsement of any bill of exchange drawn by an "Italian" or for the benefit of an "Italian."

(iii) Purchase of any bill of exchange (other than a bill payable on demand) from an "Italian" holder.

(iv) Issue of or subscription for shares in an "Italian" corporation.

(b) Permitted Business. Other banking business with "Italians" which does not involve credit facilities is not prohibited. Thus the Order permits the remittance of funds, the purchase and sale (under ruling market conditions of payment and delivery) of currencies and of stocks, shares and bonds, the payment of interest, dividends, coupons, etc.

(c) Contracts with "Italians"

The Order prohibits, as from the date when Article 3 comes into force, the further execution of any contract with an "Italian" to do business prohibited by the Order, and the Order will therefore have to be complied with, notwithstanding anything in any such contract. Thus the unavailing portion of any confirmed advance or overdraft credit will be cancelled, but to the extent to which such credits are availed of at the date on which the Article comes into force, repayment need not be called for until the expiry of the period for which the credit was granted. In the case of acceptance credits, bills of exchange accepted before that date need not be taken up by acceptors before maturity, but may not be replaced at maturity by renewal bills.

(d) Contracts with "Non-Italians."

The Order does not prohibit the further execution of any contract made with a "non-Italian" before October 25, 1935; thus any credit opened under such a contract, even if used for the benefit of an "Italian," may be maintained until the expiry of the contract.

SALE OF GOODS

4. Sale of goods. The Order prohibits as from the date on which the Article comes into force, the giving of credit to or for the benefit of an "Italian" in connection with a sale of goods. Goods may not, as from the same date, be supplied on credit under existing contracts, even where the terms of the contract involve the giving of credit. An exception to this is made in the case of contracts made before October 25, 1935, with "non-Italians."

The acceptance by United Kingdom exporters of the method of payment laid down by the Anglo-Italian Exchange of Notes of April 27, 1935 does not contravene the Order, provided that payment by the deposit of lire is made on or before the delivery of the goods.

5. Customary settlements of account in connection with insurance contracts, stock exchange transactions, railway clearings, etc., are not affected by the Order.

The Order-in-Council is published in a special Supplement to the London Gazette to-day and will be on sale in the form of a Stationery Office publication on the morning of Monday, October 25, 1935.

LIGHTNING'S SECRETS TOLD

Studies Show What Happens When Bolts Strike Objects On Ground And In Air

THE midsummer-season news inevitably reveals a variety of deeds performed by lightning—some tragic, some spectacular, some freakish. Recently lightning fires and lightning fatalities have been of normal hot-weather frequency. There was a report from Turkey of ball lightning that performed culinary feats in a kitchen, and there was one from Italy of a helpless paralytic who was restored to health and vigour when lightning struck a tree under which he had taken shelter.

The amazing natural agency that thus forces itself upon our attention is much better understood to-day than it was a generation ago. Knowledge concerning it has come rapidly to light, even within the past few years. The new knowledge, as far as it goes, tends to be exact, in the sense that it involves measurements.

Accepted Hypothesis

According to the widely accepted hypothesis of Sir George Simpson, the electrification of thunderclouds is due to the breaking up of raindrops by the wind; especially by the violent uprush of air associated with thunderstorms. The amount of the electrical charge resulting from this process depends upon various circumstances. It is greatly affected by the purity of the water. It also depends on the size of the drops and on the force of the air current.

Still another factor is revealed by experiments recently reported by Professor John Zeleny of Yale University. This physicist finds that the warmer the drops the more readily they break up, and hence the greater the amount of electricity produced. It may be at least three times as great when the drops are warm as when they are cold.

Action Of Bolts

THE action of lightning, when it strikes a tree, building or other object, is often violently explosive in character. Thus wooden objects are sometimes reduced to splinters, and pieces of stonework, bricks and the like may be thrown to distances of 100 feet or more. The cause of such damage has commonly been attributed to the formation of steam at high temperatures within the pores of the material. This is not, however, the complete explanation.

Present ideas on this subject are based on spectroscopic evidence. The spectrum of lightning shows that at least a part of the material along the path of discharge is broken up not merely into atoms, but into ions and electrons.

Atoms Shattered

IN other words, the atoms themselves are shattered and much material is converted into a hypergaseous form. This process implies the most violent kind of explosion known, to which, however, the generation of steam doubtless contributes its quota of destruction.

The British Meteorological Office has recently made a somewhat comprehensive study of the lightning hazard in aeronautics and the results are quite reassuring. The general conclusion reached with respect to aeroplanes is that "on aeroplanes without radio aerials there is practically no danger to the personnel. The position, however, is much more serious if the machine has a trailing aerial. The most important thing therefore to be done when it is known that the plane is in a danger area or is about to enter a danger area is to withdraw the aerial."

No Downing Of Airships

AS to airships, it is stated that in several cases they have been struck by lightning, the discharge passing through the hull and out again, but there is no properly authenticated case of a rigid airship having been destroyed by lightning.

The Bureau of Standards in Washington and, more recently, Sir George Simpson in England, have pointed out that the more or less complete cage of electrically conducting metal formed by the chassis, frame and top of a modern automobile is a good protection if lightning strikes.

Dry rubber tyres are electric insulators, which explains why buses and other large automobiles sometimes become charged with static electricity on dry days and may give off small sparks when touched by a person standing on the ground.

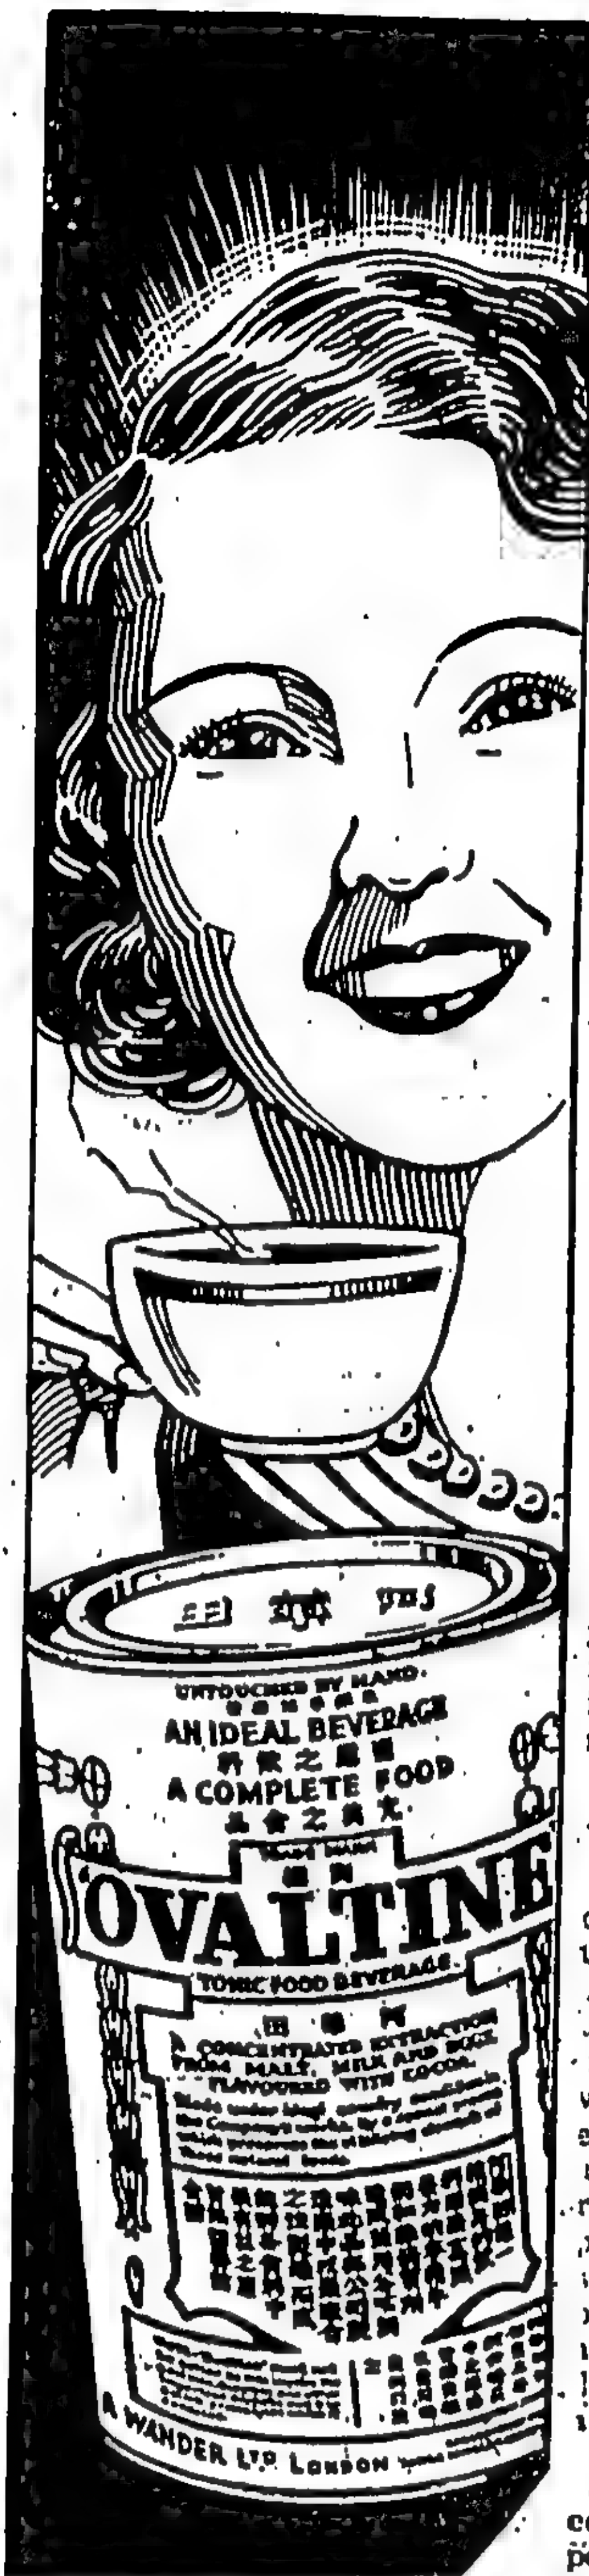

In a thunderstorm, however, the tyres are wet and thus provide an electrical connection to the ground. A person inside such a closed car is like one inside a steel-frame building, such as a skyscraper. Although skyscrapers themselves frequently are struck by lightning no one inside them ever is injured.

Fashion Parade At L. C.'s

LANE Crawford's Fashion Parade, which marked the opening of the new Ladies' Salon, was quite the event of our social week. Certainly nothing has been spared to make this salon a joy to enter, and the fascinating display of new suits and gowns promises well for additional delights in our future shopping. I suppose never before in Hong Kong has there been so interesting a mannequin parade and in such attractive surroundings. And the lovely slim mannequins did carry their gowns well too! The hostess and cocktail gowns and the evening gowns were exceptionally lovely, and each one was the exclusive model of some famous English or American designer. Mrs. Moodie-Heddle, in charge of the ladies' salon, may be justly pleased with the success of her work. And the local ladies who eventually appear in those gowns will certainly be the envy of their female colleagues for the evening.

Among the guests present were Lady MacGregor, Lady Shenton, Mrs. Hayden, Mrs. Eu Tong Sen, Mrs. R. Hancock and her daughters, Mrs. Gerrard, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. L. Dunbar and her daughters, Mrs. E. Childe, Madame Montargis, Mrs. D. M. Bygar, Mrs. Netland, Mrs. J. H. Taggart, Mrs. Dudley King, who has just returned from a holiday overseas, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Charles Hoover, Mrs. Hance, Miss Larsen, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Heilberg, Mrs. Stephenson and her daughter, and Miss Ellis.

Physical Culture For Women

I had an interesting talk this week with Miss K. Glover, the organiser of the Women's League of Health and Beauty in Hong Kong. Miss Glover had her training in London last year, and now she holds physical culture classes here some three times a week, once at the Helena May, then at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, then at Kowloon, in which she teaches her woman pupils the movement's special stretch and swing exercises. Her class at the Helena May is increasingly popular and the evening class she has just started for business girls is promising well. So the Hong Kong women are about to sing:

"A League of Health appeals to me,
And as for Beauty—WAIT AND SEE!"

The aim of the movement is the achievement of racial health by natural means: to interest and enthuse the women, the "architects of the future," and so to create a fashion for physical fitness.

Tap Dancing Classes

MISS Glover thinks the young Hong Kong girl with her love of sport is well on the lines of the League already, but the middle-aged woman she finds much too prone to put on weight—and that quite contentedly! She hopes to start classes in tap dancing very soon, and that certainly should be very popular.

The movement has been a tremendous success in England and is well begun in America and Australia too, so membership is another pretty strong link with women in other parts of the world. We shall look forward meanwhile to Miss Glover's pupils' first demonstration.

Black Returns To Vogue

THE cold snap has evidently succeeded in bringing the dark colours to the fore. It certainly seemed so at the Hong Kong Hotel a week yesterday, for, although the floor was crowded, the majority of the ladies were in black.

Among these were Miss K. Clarke and Miss E. Brown, both of whom wore well cut dresses. Miss R. Alabaster chose black and white patterned silk. Mrs. Cook was in black crepe and Mrs. MacAvoy had selected beautiful black lace.

Black angle satin was displayed by Miss Diana Dodwell, and Miss E. Dunnett's black dress had flame accessories. A few of the gay, bright dresses seen were those worn by Miss B. Helbling, Miss F. Stevens, Miss M. Clarke, and Miss B. Gough.

Miss E. Ottagen was in pretty pink crepe and Miss E. Gray had on turquoise and silver. Miss B. Gerrard looked very striking in flame taffeta, while Miss V. Blackburn wore a dainty white lace gown. One of the loveliest dresses seen was that worn by Mrs. G. Stewart. It was a gorgeous shade of deep-sea green.

Mr. Lacayo's Manila Trip

THIS week I met Mr. T. Lacayo, who had just come back from last week's inauguration ceremonies in Manila. Mr. Lacayo was present at the inauguration as, besides being the Consul for Nicaragua here, he is Consul-General of the Philippines. He left here on the President Grant, the same ship on which the big American party left Hong Kong. It was a very pleasant trip and several parties were given. Mr. Guevara, the former Philippines' representative in Washington, gave a cocktail party and Mr. Francisco Delgado, the present representative, gave a very successful champagne party. Mr. Lacayo had the opportunity of talking to the Speaker of the House and the Senators on board, and all were generally delighted with their stay in Hong Kong and very much impressed by the beauty of the place.

Unfortunately, Mr. Lacayo was ill in Manila and unable to attend most of the functions. However, he attended two balls before the inauguration; one was given by the Assembly in the Auditorium, and the other, given by Governor Murphy, was held in the Malacanán Palace. Naturally great enthusiasm was witnessed everywhere, for never in the history of the Philippines had there been such an occasion. Hundreds of thousands of people from all the provinces were in Manila and the city was beautifully decorated and illuminated. There were processions and all manner of festive gaieties, and, altogether, Mr. Lacayo says, it was a most impressive occasion.

Chinese Choral Society

THERE were probably many of you who attended the first concert of the Hong Kong Chinese Choral Society held in March 1934, conducted by Mr. J. Anderson Miller. This was the first appearance of a Chinese choir in the Colony and their good singing caused something of a sensation. Their next concert, which took place last night in the Great Hall of the University, was also thoroughly enjoyable. I was impressed, too, by the pretty sight the choir made with their silk dresses of different colours.

The artists who assisted the choir were Mrs. Anderson Miller (Soprano), Mrs. M. H. Arnold (Cello), Mr. Li Chor Chi (Tenor), Dr. L. T. Rido (Baritone), and Lt. Col. Kuhne, who accompanied. There was also music by Mr. Yau Hok Chau and his Chinese instrumentalists, while the promising young pianist, Mr. Au Wai Man, did much to add to the success of the programme.

We begin already to look forward to hearing some more part songs and madrigals from this excellent Chinese choir at their next appearance.

The Cost Of Justice

CRITICISM of the methods of British administration need not be mere cavilling against a system which has certainly been devised to secure justice, but eternal vigilance is just as much the price of efficiency as of freedom. The great defect, so far as the general public is concerned, is the cost, particularly to the party that is acquitted or adjudged to have been in the right, for though it may appear that justice has been secured, it may happen that the cost of securing it may amount to a very severe fine on a defendant who finds himself in court merely by ill luck. In a recent case of which I happen to know the details a Chinese boy happened to find himself under suspicion in circumstances that might occur to all of us. The accused was detained for two days until a heavy bail could be deposited. He then had to secure legal advice. In due course the case was heard and dismissed. At every point the legal procedure was followed, and there is no complaint against any individual officer. The point of interest is that the boy, apart from the loss of time, and the anxiety, which may be accepted as probably inevitable in any system, was $70 out of pocket.

A Recent Commission

THAT of course is not a large sum, except to a poor man, who finds it very difficult to earn dollars and still more difficult to earn a surplus for such fees. The official reply is well known, for there was recently a Commission appointed by the Home Government, under the chairmanship of Lord Hanworth, which did go through the rules of procedure very carefully, and introduced a number of simplifications, particularly in the submission of documents and so on. The report, however, said that the official fees were already very low in civil cases, and there was practically no reduction possible in criminal cases. The cost was in the fees paid to counsel and to the solicitors at the option of the defendants or litigants, and as these were optional there was nothing to be done about it. Anyhow the net result is that any sensible man will go to almost any length in the way of accepting compromise and arbitration rather than submit his case to the costly arbitrament of a Court. In criminal cases of course the accused has no option at all, and "soups"—as the fees of one guinea awarded to a young barrister to defend a man who is unrepresented are called—are only allotted in very serious cases. The paradox of the problem is that the extra expense has been caused by the manifold precautions invented to secure justice. One of the most expensive ways of achieving fame or immortality is to have one's name connected with a "leading case," and in almost every such case it would have paid a private citizen to sit down under injustice rather than defend his rights. With a big company it may be different, but they have advisers to keep them out of trouble.

Summary Methods

ONE does not need to be told that the plan which works well in very primitive societies of allowing only the parties concerned to appear, and excluding professional advisers, would not be applicable to highly civilised people like ourselves, but it remains a fact that the most summary methods are quite acceptable as long as the magistrate has a reputation for just decisions. He can only maintain this by patient attention to both sides, and the temptation is very great to make records for quick decisions. The case of one magistrate in a native area of Africa is on record, who completely suppressed a local custom which for many years had been a great nuisance, and defied ordinary methods. He toured his district preceded by a policeman who wheeled a large barrel. The trouble was that the people used to stop travellers and only allow them to proceed when they had contributed a "basela"—the local name for a cumshaw—of tobacco or similar luxury, of a threepenny piece in cash. The function of the barrel was partly to make a noise and proclaim the advent of the law. When it stopped the neighbours would collect, and reports of molestation would be heard on the spot. Any offender would then be gently placed in a recumbent position across the barrel and receive five cuts with a sjambok—a weapon fashioned from rhinoceros hide—on that portion of his anatomy provided by nature for the purpose. There was no need for the barrel to go round a second time.

The Ethiopian Method

IN Ethiopia, where distinctions of grade are not so clearly marked as with us, the custom is, for either civil or criminal cases, to resort to the nearest policeman. Both parties make eloquent appeals, and the bystanders often express their own opinions, and the policeman then deals with the matter as may seem to him best, but he rarely makes an arrest unless it is a case of murder or robbery with violence. In that case the procedure of the Court is very like what his own would have been, and punishment is inflicted outside the Court, immediately.

Boxing Season Approaches

NOW that the cooler season is approaching, followers of boxing will be looking forward to the winter tournaments. It is a shame that in a place like Hong Kong there is no permanent stadium where boxing matches can be staged. The Lee Theatre is all right in a way, but it is not exactly the ideal place. In the old days we used to have an open air ring at the Belle Vue Hotel (Ming Yuen). Is there no prospect of resuscitating these open air tournaments?

Skating Rink of Yore

MENTION of the Belle Vue Hotel reminds one of the days when they had a public skating rink in Hong Kong. Although we do not see many people (except children) going in for roller-skating nowadays, it is nevertheless a very pleasant pastime, and if only there was a place where one could indulge in it without fear of oncoming traffic, it might find a fairly big following.

Local Pigeon Racing

ALTHOUGH it is not generally known, a great deal of pigeon racing is done in the Colony. Some members of the Lincolnshire Regiment are very keen pigeon fanciers, but one of the most enthusiastic followers is J. T. K. Gilchrist, who has a very big loft in Wanchai. Weekly flights are held in the New Territories, and it is understood that an attempt will be made to "fly Shanghai" in the very near future.

Mr. Abraham's main interest is now concerned with racing—he owns, with Mr. P. Tester, Sadko, The Tiger and The Gorilla. He has been Vice-President of the Kowloon Cricket Club for 12 years, while he also saw 17 years' service with the Volunteers.

CHINESE WEDDING AT GLOUCESTER

YU — AU

TWO WELL-KNOWN FAMILIES UNITED

The dining-room of the Gloucester Hotel was crowded to its utmost capacity yesterday afternoon for the wedding of Mr. Yu Wai-wah, son of Mr. Yu Ah-tim, commodore of the Naval Dockyard, and Miss Au Un-pik, daughter of Mr. Au Tse-shiu, a well-known merchant and former director of the Tung Wah Hospital.

The ceremony, which was in accordance with the reformed rites of the Chinese National Government, was performed by the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau.

A Charming Bride

The bride, looking charming in ivory-white satin, with a long bridal veil carried by a diminutive page, entered the room on the arm of the groom, followed by the bridesmaids and groomsmen, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by an all-Chinese orchestra. She carried a bouquet of white roses, while the principal bridesmaid, also in ivory-white satin, carried a sheaf of pink gladioli.

Making a circuit of the room they took their position under a huge bell of white chrysanthemums in front of a dais, where the Hon. T. N. Chau and the principal witnesses were already seated. On Mr. Chau's right was the bridegroom's father, Mr. Yu Ah-tim, and on his left Mr. Au Shu-cho, grandfather of the bride, and next to them, the two "match-makers and introducers," Mr. C. A. Ying and Mr. Kan Tai-chol.

The Ceremony

Next, the marriage contract in scroll form, tied up in a scarlet cover, was handed by the groom's father to Mr. Chau, who read it aloud, after which the bride and groom exchanged rings and then signed the marriage certificate, a very ornate affair, which was in turn signed by the witness seated at the dais. Mr. Chau then made a short speech of advice, first to the bridegroom, then to the bride, which was followed by the performance of the prescribed ceremonial bows of bride and groom; first to the Hon. Mr. Chau, then to the bride's grandfather and the groom's father, next to the "match-makers and introducers," then to one another and finally to the assembled guests. The Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Kan, then asked the company to drink the health of the happy couple, which was done in champagne cup.

Speech Of Thanks

Mr. Yu Ah-tim, the bridegroom's father, then spoke in English, thanking the guests for their presence, more particularly Commodore Sedgwick and the other naval representatives in the party. Tea was then served to the guests and the bridecake cut and distributed.

European Guests

Among the European guests invited were:—Commodore C. G. Sedgwick, Payr. Lieut. Coindr. M. A. W. Swony and Mrs. Swony, Mr. E. W. C. Corry, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Munin, Mr. H. C. Tyson, Mr. and

THREE REGISTRY WEDDINGS

Mr. Prentis Has Busy Saturday Morning

Three weddings were performed by Mr. J. B. Prentis at the Registry of Marriages in the Supreme Court yesterday morning. Mr. Frederick Leopold Brown, patrolman, of No. 16 Nullah Road, Kowloon, the son of the late Mr. Johannes Carl Brown, was married to Miss Nina Wilson, of No. 33 Taiipo Road, the daughter of the late Mr. Herman Martin Wilson.

Miss Alva P. Brown and Mr. Ray Alarco were witnesses to the wedding.

Unclaimed telegrams addressed to Easterie, from Shanghai; Wong-shu-ting, C/o Wahchongtsan, 62, Connaught Road, from Amoy; and Ferreira Franho, from Hilo, Hawaii, are lying at the Government Radio Office.

London, Later: The exchange of offices between Mr. J. H. Thomas and Mr. Malcolm MacDonald has occasioned surprise in political circles. It is felt by the body of Conservative opinion that Mr. Thomas has not been too popular with the Dominions and should hold another office.

The fact that the Dominions Office is always regarded as a senior post means that a seat in Parliament will have to be found for Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, who may possibly be put up for the by-election for the combined Scottish Universities.

The most interesting suggestion concerning the exchange of offices is that Mr. Baldwin is endeavouring to settle the differences with the Irish Free State, on which Mr. Thomas was invariably most uncompromising, and there was little hope of any accommodation with Mr. de Valera so long as Mr. Thomas occupied the Dominions Office, whereas Mr. Malcolm MacDonald is regarded as more likely to bring about an agreement.—Reuter.

MAUNA LOA IN ERUPTION

EARTHQUAKE AND TIDAL WAVE

Hilo, Hawaii, Yesterday.

The 20,000 inhabitants of Hilo are fearfully watching the approach of a stream of lava 18 miles long from the volcano Mauna Loa; an eruption of which was followed by an earthquake and tidal wave. A red glow is visible from all over the island, and scientists are hurriedly organising expeditions to the peak to locate the point of eruption.—Reuter.

The monarch embarked on the cruiser Hellis at the scheduled time, but the vessel was unable to leave harbour on account of the high seas.—Trans-Ocean Service.

BRITAIN'S REPLY TO ITALY

Full Particulars Of British Note

ALL RELEVANT FACTORS RECALLED

London, Yesterday.

The British note handed to the Italian Ambassador in London yesterday refers to the Italian note of November 11; in which the Italian Government thought fit to draw attention to the responsibility entailed by the putting into force of the measures proposed by the League's Committee of Co-ordination, and continues: "In reply to general observations advanced by the Italian Government, His Majesty's Government feel bound to emphasise that, having themselves taken part in the discussions at Geneva, they are in a position to bear witness to the constant anxiety evidenced alike by the Council, the Assembly and by other organs of the League of Nations, fully conscious as they have been of the gravity of their responsibilities in a spirit of impartiality and to concede the utmost possible weight to the legitimate interests of Italy."

His Majesty's Government are so convinced of the accuracy of this stage of the work already performed by the League of Nations in connection with the Italian dispute that they feel no useful purpose would be served by re-opening or recapitulating the discussion of the questions raised in the Italian note.

"RECOURSE TO WAR"

"His Majesty's Government must therefore content themselves by recalling that on October 7 last the delegates of all the Governments represented on the Council, with the exception of the Italian delegate, confronted with the task of applying the provisions of the Covenant, which are mandatory in character, to facts which were not in dispute, felt themselves obliged to affirm that the Italian Government had had recourse to war in violation of Article XII. Strong as is the feeling of friendship towards Italy which inspires the United Kingdom, His Majesty's Government felt themselves bound to assent to this decision and accept the consequences which must inevitably ensue. His Majesty's Government do not conceal their anxiety to facilitate, so far as lies in their power as a member State of the League of Nations and at the earliest possible moment, a settlement of regrettable conflict now in progress."

"But they are unable wholly to pass over the implication contained in the last paragraph of Your Excellency's note under reply, which refers to the 'Free and sovereign judgment' which His Majesty's Government are alleged to be at liberty to apply to the determination of their course of action. His Majesty's Government, in subscribing to the Covenant, did not indeed abandon or renounce their own free and sovereign judgment, but undertook to exercise it henceforth in accordance with the obligations of that instrument. No other attitude is open to them, and they would naturally desire to see the Italian Government place a similar construction on their own action to the Covenant."

OIL SUPPLIES TO ITALY
Senhor Vasconcellos, the Portuguese delegate to the League of Nations and President of the Committee of Eighteen, has arranged for the committee of experts who are to study the working of the measures proposed by the Co-operation Committee and put into execution on November 18, to meet at Geneva next Wednesday. The experts may be in a position to report to the Committee of Eighteen, which has been called together for later in the week, when it is understood that it will discuss the further possibility of making additions to the list of key products, the export of which to Italy is prohibited by the Covenant-enforcing States.

One of the products in question is petroleum, and the action of the League States may be facilitated by the independent initiative of the United States Secretary of the Interior, who is reported to have urged oil companies in the United States voluntarily to curtail shipments to the belligerents in order to comply, in spirit no less than in letter, with the Neutrality Act.—British Wireless Service.

ITALIAN FORCE ROUTED
Action In Makalle Area

Addis Ababa, Yesterday.

A communique claims that an Italian force marching from Makalle in a north-westerly direction yesterday was severely defeated. It says that the Ethiopian troops suddenly left their places of concealment among the boulders and shrubs, and fighting followed. The Italian commander and a number of his troops were killed, and the rest fled in disorder towards Agula.—Reuter.

SEARCH FOR "SMITHY"
London, Yesterday.—The hopes for the discovery of the lost Australian airman, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, aroused by reports that a ship off the west coast of Siam had seen flares on Sayes Island have not so far been substantiated. An air liner from Singapore is now searching the island from which the signals were seen.—British Wireless Service.

Election Candidate Passes
London, yesterday.—Mr. Noel Skelton, Under-Secretary for Scotland, died at Edinburgh yesterday morning at the age of 65.

Mr. Skelton was one of the Conservative candidates for the Scottish Combined Universities, which is returning three members and which is the only constituency for which the result of the election is not yet known. The result will be announced on Monday, and if Mr. Skelton, who was returned unopposed in 1931, is elected there will be an immediate vacancy.

Two members of the Cabinet, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, and his son, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, who has now been appointed Secretary for the Dominions, lost their seats in the election, and newspapers canvass the possibility that one or the other might in the event of a vacancy in this constituency be nominated in by-election.—British Wireless Service.

DISAPPOINTMENT IN ROME

POINTED REFERENCE TO THE FAR EAST

FRANCE IGNORES DIRECT QUESTION

London, Yesterday.

The British reply to the Italian protest against sanctions testifies to the constant anxiety that Geneva carried out its duties in a spirit of impartiality and conceded the utmost possible weight to the legitimate interests of Italy. The British Government therefore feels that no useful purpose would be served by re-opening a discussion of the question raised in the Italian note.

Strong as were the feelings of friendship towards Italy, the United Kingdom Government felt bound to assent to the League decisions and accept the inevitable consequences. The note expresses anxiety to facilitate, as a member of the League, the earliest possible settlement of the dispute, and adds that the Government, in subscribing to the League Covenant, did not abandon or renounce its own free sovereign judgment but undertook to exercise it in accordance with the obligations of the Covenant. No other attitude was open to them, and they naturally desire to see the Italian Government place a similar construction on their adherence to the Covenant.

The French note in reply to the Italian protest against sanctions states that despite her sentiments of friendship towards Italy, it was not in the power of the French Government to reject the League finding.

To fail to fulfil the obligations of the Covenant would compromise the future possibility of the applications of the provisions constituting the essential element of collective security. Until a settlement of the conflict ends the measures prescribed by the Covenant, none of the sanctions concerning Italy can be regarded as a hostile act.

The note renews the hope of an early settlement of the conflict, but does not answer Italy's direct question as regards how the French Government intends to act regarding the coercive measures proposed against Italy, which is generally regarded as aimed at splitting the sanctionist countries.—Reuter.

PERTINENT QUESTION

Rome: The Italians are disappointed at the uncompromising tone of the British reply, but the note is virtually what was expected. It is pointed out that Italy has at least gained the point that the replies should not be collective, and that each Government takes its own responsibility for the application of sanctions.

The claim that Britain is only fulfilling her duties under the Covenant is greeted with impatience. Italians ask why in that case does Britain allow Japan to nibble off bits of China.

AVIATION PETROL FROM U.S.
San Pedro: Despite Mr. Cordell Hull's warning that the crews of freighters with supplies of war materials for the war zone travel at their own risk, the freighter Oregon has sailed for Italian Somaliland with a cargo of 30,000 drums of aviation petrol. It carried a non-union crew, the unionists having refused to sail, although they were offered a 50 per cent. bonus.—Reuter.

NUDISTS' CAMP AT SHATIN

Successful Summer Season

WINTER ACTIVITIES TO FOLLOW

The local Nudists' Association experienced a most successful summer season this year, according to a statement by Mr. H. E. Lanepart, Honorary Secretary of the Association, who reports an encouraging increase in the number of local residents, both Chinese and foreign, who took advantage of the 'Nudists' Camp at Shatin, New Territories, and spent most of their spare time at the Camp.

Mr. Lanepart states that most of the persons who visited the Camp were Chinese, who usually came in groups of five or seven, the majority being men.

Most of the nudists are single and are either accompanied by sisters, brothers or friends, and those who are married invariably bring their husbands or wives along.

The Nudists' Camp will be open throughout the winter season, Mr. Lanepart states, as the members of the Association are eager to continue their activities all the year round.

Change From Usual Annual Fete
ENJOYABLE AFTERNOON

A treasure hunt and various games and competitions were features of the St. Andrew's Church Garden Party held in the Church grounds yesterday afternoon in place of the usual annual fete which has been held in previous years in aid of the Church funds.

The function, which was well attended by the parishioners of the Church, commenced at 3 p.m. with a treasure hunt, in which several exciting moments were experienced by those who competed. After almost half an hour's hunting Miss Betty Park succeeded in securing the highest number of points and won the first prize.

Under the management of Mrs. Robson, the visitors sat down to afternoon tea, after which various games and competitions, in which both the children and their parents participated, were held.

At the conclusion of the competitions an informal concert comprising individual songs and community singing took place in the Church Hall. Among those who contributed songs were Mrs. Robson, Mrs. Schroeder, Mr. Luard, Mr. Baldwin and the Rev. J. R. Higgs.

The function ended at 6 p.m., after the Rev. J. R. Higgs had presented the prizes and thanked the helpers and visitors for attending the party. In closing his speech, he reminded his hearers that the "great day" was next Saturday, when contributions towards the Church fund will be collected from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Besides Miss Betty Park, those who won prizes were Miss Phyllis Kirby, Major Primer and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffreys.

C.I.N.C. RETURNING TO COLONY NEXT TUESDAY

His Excellency, Sir Frederick Charles Dreyer, K.C.B., C.B.E., Commander-in-Chief of the China Station, is expected back in the Colony next Tuesday when his flagship, H.M.S. Kent, returns after the completion of her annual summer exercises in northern waters.

The mystery which surrounded the non-appearance of one of the leading local Chinese newspapers, the Tsun Wen Yat Po, yesterday morning, was soon cleared up when it became known that owing to a breakdown of the printing machine, the paper could not be issued.

WAH YAN PAST STUDENTS

Successful Reunion Dinner

LARGE GATHERING IN COLLEGE HALL

The Wah Yan College Hall presented an animated and jovial scene on the occasion of the annual general meeting of the Old Students' Association, which took place last evening. Coloured lights, palms, bunting and streamers in the College Colours were lavishly used for decoration, while an excellent dinner was provided by the Hotel Cecil, Ltd. at the expense of the Association. The function, which was a great success, was provided with musical entertainment from the College Band, conducted by Very Rev. Fr. Gallagher.

Among those present were His Lordship Bishop H. Valtorta, Very Rev. Fr. Cooney, S. J., Messrs. H. C. Macnamara, Peter H. Sin, Lim Hoy Lan, Fung Kwok Wa, the staff of the College and members of the Council of the Association, about 100 people in all attending.

Before the election of officers for 1935/1936 the Hon. Secretary's annual report was duly adopted. Afterwards dinner was served, at which various toasts were proposed.

Address Of Welcome

In a welcoming address, the President, Mr. Ko Fook Son, said:—My Lord Bishop, Reverend Fathers, Ladies and Gentlemen: I consider it a great pleasure and a rare opportunity to welcome you all here to-night. The kind attendance of so many distinguished guests, including His Lordship Bishop Valtorta, Rev. Father Cooney, Mr. H. C. Macnamara, Mr. Peter Sin, and Mr. Lim Hoy Lan, and so many honorary members indicates their great interest in our Association. The presence of so many members makes us refuse to believe that our Association is less than one year old. In fact, it was founded on March 20 this year. Since the establishment, my colleagues and I have been working diligently in order to make this young institution a well-founded and really active organization. Yet we dare not say that we have achieved all the objects anticipated by those who formulated the Constitutions.

Several Gatherings

"During the last eight months of the existence of our Association, we have had several gatherings with the object of bringing the past students' closer to the College and closer among themselves. In respect of these activities, a Programme Committee, headed by Mr. Fung Kwok Wah, was appointed to carry out the activities set down for the current year.

"The first 'At Home' was successfully held in our College hall on May 4. Other activities consisted of inviting Mr. Macnamara, the well-known local barrister-at-law, to talk on law, and Rector Father Gallagher, Vice-President of our Association, to lecture on science and religion. I am sure all of us still remember these two most interesting and educational lectures.

"During the summer months, we held three lunch picnics, with more than 100 members attending each time. I am glad to announce that we have offered to the College three prizes in order to encourage the present students in essay-writing and debating. This is but a small part of what we have endeavoured to do towards our College.

Wider Scope

"But the scope of our Association is wider than simply giving the past students good times in social gatherings. We must render mutual help to one another, do work of social value to the

CONFUCIAN FREE SCHOOLS

Yesterday's Sale Of Flowers

$3,353.36 REALISED

Yesterday's sale of flowers in aid of the funds of the Confucian Free Schools for the poor of the Colony proved an unqualified success, thanks to the enthusiastic efforts of a host of charming Chinese ladies and schoolgirls on behalf of the good cause.

At a very early hour of the morning, that must have meant the loss of a couple of hours' sleep to many of them, they spread themselves over Hong Kong and Kowloon, on the principle that it is the early bird that catches the worm; indeed the very earliest of those going to business were caught and rejoiced into buying a flower.

No less than 670 girls, selected from 14 schools, took part in the drive.

Their energy seemed boundless. Not content with their strenuous work of the morning they devoted the afternoon to a concerted raid on the spectators at the various sports grounds and succeeded in drawing many extra dollars from the pockets of their willing victims. When the collections were totaled last night at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce it was found that the very useful sum of $3,353.36 had been garnered. Both the organizers and the workers are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts.

community, and be useful to the country. This is the way to glorify our Alma Mater, which has equipped us with education to do great and useful things in future. These great tasks cannot be accomplished by us alone. Enthusiastic co-operation is needed if success is aimed at.

"Now I wish to give my heartfelt thanks to our distinguished guests for their presence to-night, and particularly for their keen interest in our Association since its birth. I feel greatly indebted to the Council members for their valuable assistance, which has made this Association so far so successful.

"Father Gallagher, our Vice-President, is the most able man who links our Association in close touch with the College. He pays as much attention to the past students as to the present. The existence of our Association entirely depends on that of the College, because a growing college enrolment year by year means a corresponding increase in our members after their graduation.

Officials Thanked
"I should like to thank the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Joseph Ng, publicly for the efficient manner in which he has carried out the Council's decisions. We also admire the way our Hon. Treasurer, Mr. Kwan Yim Chor, financed the activities with only a limited allowance from the membership fees. Mr. Chan Wai Suen is another hard-working Council member. He supplied us with delicious food at most reasonable rates. Also after a social gathering, he would invariably be kept busy in preparing materials for the press. Mr. Fung Kwok Wah, a sociable sportsman and Chairman of our Programme Committee, has very smoothly conducted different activities. In short, the helping hands of all Council members have lightened the heavy responsibilities that are placed upon my shoulders, and I will always have a happy memory of their support and co-operation.

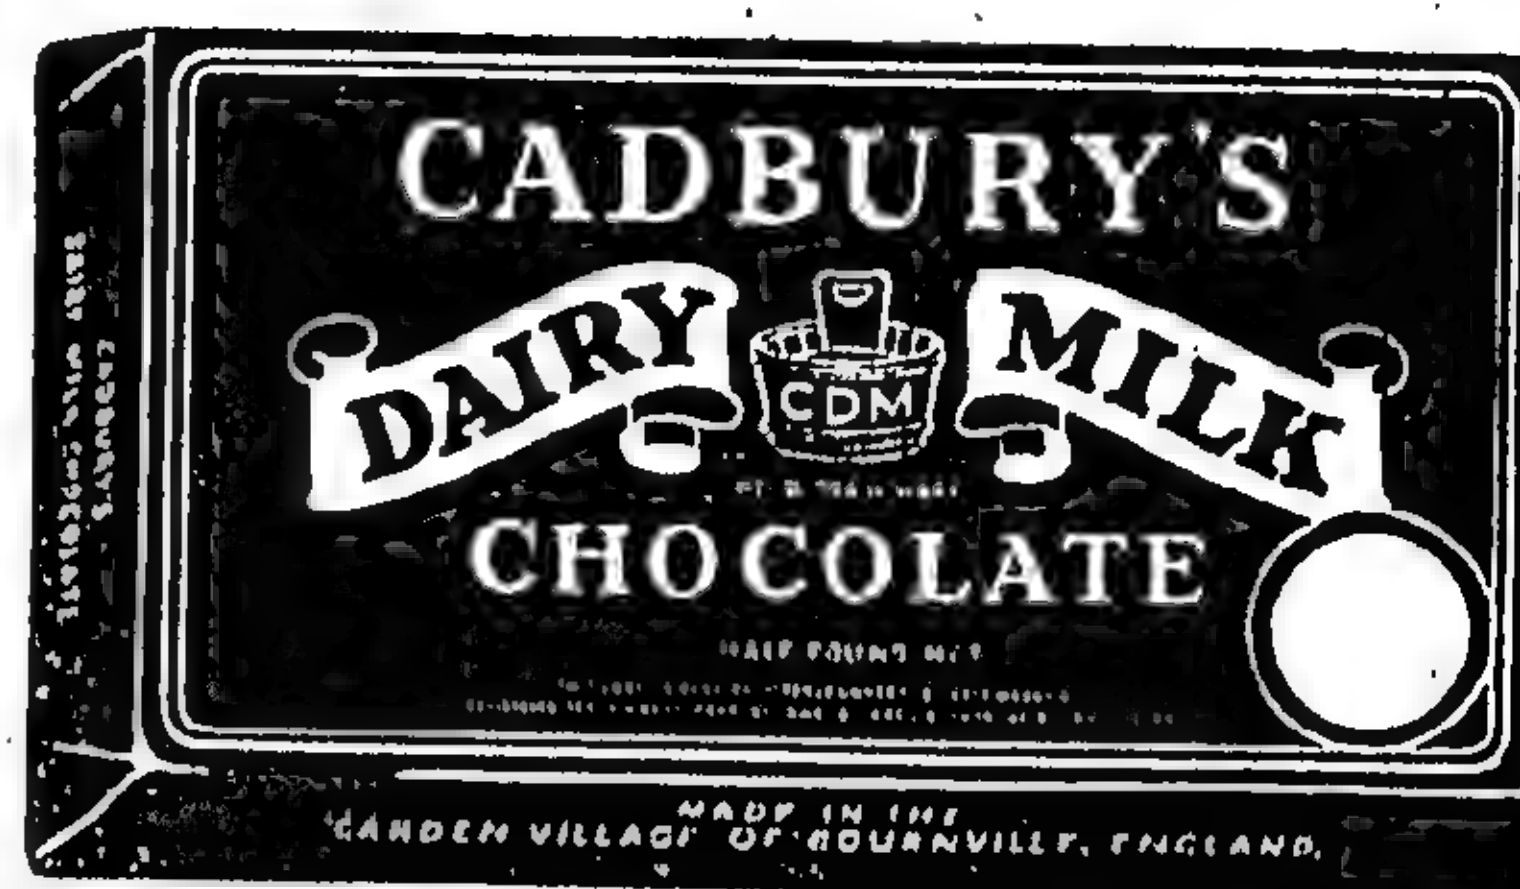

"Finally, Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you for the honour you have done to us in coming here to-night."
Toasts to "The College," "The Association" and "The Guests" were also proposed and drunk with enthusiasm, before the evening concluded. Many references were made to the excellent work the Association is doing in fostering the spirit of service and reverence for the mother institution.

Officials Elected
The following were the officials elected for the ensuing year:—
President:—Mr. Ko Fook Son.
Vice Presidents:—Rev. Fr. Gallagher S. J. and Mr. Kwan Yim Chor.

EXHIBITION OF
CHINESE ARTNewspaper Luncheon
At Academy

3,000 YEARS COVERED

London, Yesterday.

All the editors of the London papers and the correspondents of the chief provincial and foreign papers were entertained to luncheon yesterday at the Royal Academy in anticipation of the opening of the Chinese Art Exhibition on Thursday next.

Sir William Llewellyn, President of the Royal Academy, described the comprehensive nature of the exhibition, covering 3,000 years of Chinese art. He hoped the newspapers would succeed in spreading among the public a more comprehensive knowledge of Chinese art, and would help them to appreciate the wonderful display.

He paid a glowing tribute to Dr. F. T. Cheng and Mr. Laurence Binyon, and said this was the first opportunity of really appreciating the imaginative, creative and artistic genius of the Chinese. Chinese art was as alive to-day as ever.

COLOURS COMBINED

Mr. Leigh Ashton described the principles of the arrangement of the exhibition, in which colours had been combined in order to emphasise the particular beauty of each piece.

Mr. Cheng paid a tribute to the helpfulness of the Academy authorities and emphasised that everything in connection with the exhibition, from the packing of the objects to the decorations, was an art which all Chinese, besides foreigners, highly appreciated.—Reuter.

FINANCES IN
HOPEIGovernment Measures
Of Stabilisation

Tientsin, Yesterday.

To stabilise the financial market in the province, the Hopei Provincial Government yesterday issued orders to various district magistrates in the province, instructing them that the withdrawal of the notes issued by the Hopei Provincial Bank will be postponed until the arrival of a large number of legal tender notes.

The step is learned to have been taken by the Provincial Government in response to a request from the Provincial Bank and is deemed necessary to avoid misunderstanding and chaos among the merchants and the people with regard to the Government's financial decree for the nationalisation of silver.—Central News Agency.

Canton, Yesterday.

Good business was done by the provincial sugar factories last month, in the course of which over 20,000 tons were sold. Owing to the abolition of the Sugar Smuggling Suppression Bureau, the small demand for sugar and the rising prices, business in the present month is not expected to be as good as it was last month.—Neutral News.

THE WORLD BRIDGE
OLYMPICINTENSE PREPARATION
FOR EVENTSOME PRINCIPLE ILLUSTRATED BY
EACH OF 16 HANDS

IN an advertisement elsewhere in this issue, Bridge devotees are urged to save the night of February 4, 1936, for the play of the Olympic in Hong Kong. The success of the 1935 tournament here leads the committee to believe that there will be an even greater participation, for in addition to the chance of an Olympic prize, local awards are made for high scores.

An article by G. W. Beynon in The Bridge World describes the history and operation of the event.

Few people realise the tremendous amount of work involved in preparation for this colossal event. The selection of hands suitable for such a contest requires months of careful analysis and tests. Sixteen hands only can be used and each must illustrate a principle in play or bidding. There must be plenty of variation to intrigue the participants; trick or problem hands must be carefully avoided. Some people think the whole set is made up of catch hands. Such is not the case.

The Olympic Committee is composed of the most eminent masters of Contract, each of

Robbery

The par on this hand is three notrump, bid and made, or down one, and the principle—or lack of principle—is theft.

South, who should become declarer, must take the first trick (usually a spade) in his own hand and lead a small heart towards the Queen in dummy. If West fails to go up with the Ace, declarer steals his ninth trick, and can establish his clubs while he still retains a spade stopper.

On the other hand, if West puts up the Ace and returns another spade, the contract will be set one trick. Thus, the ultimate result of the play depends upon West. And so does the East-West par, which is three notrump by North-South, set one. There were two pairs for this hand and each would receive one point if made. Last year there were ten pairs possible in each direction.

After The Game

The instant a game is finished in any part of the world, the captain mails the individual score sheets of his players to the World Bridge Olympic headquarters. Tons and tons of them arrive daily and the post office department assigns huge mail bags and a corps of letter carriers to make immediate deliveries.

Then the clerical force goes into action, again. Even during the playing period this army of workers has had little rest because rules had to be interpreted, decisions given, special dispensations to distant captains. At the same time the correct solutions of the hands are being rapidly mailed to all the captains, so the players may learn almost immediately how they fared.

Awards

The score sheets are segregated as to countries, States, districts and cities, and the returns checked off against the names of the captains. Rapid mathematical figures the pars on each sheet and total them, and when all returns have been received from one country or State and the score sheets tabulated, the leading ones are turned over to the judges for final awards. When the committee has selected all the winners, the announcement is made by wire all over the world and at the same instant the players learn their fate.

Just as in the theatre, after the audience has left, the scenes are shifted and the stage reset for the next performance.

They're Off

At 8.01 p.m., February 4, every hand must be ready for play, every player in his seat prepared to fight for world supremacy. The

It was inevitable, so Betty Fulkerson leads the parade by becoming the first bathing beauty "wrapped in cellophane." She is here shown at the San Diego Exposition bathing suit contest.

In the first half Miss M. Churn, left-half for St. Andrew's, received a nasty knock on the face as the result of which she had to retire from the game. In spite of this, however, St. Andrew's played gamely and did exceedingly well to stop further scoring. There was not much to choose between the teams beyond the fact that the Hong Kong Ladies hit very much harder than their opponents. The Saints had two or three glorious opportunities to score, but weak finishing saw them fail on each occasion.

All-Important Goal

There was no score until about midway through the first half, when Mrs. Harrop seized an opportunity to have a shot at goal following a move in front of the St. Andrew's goal. The shot was undoubtedly a good one, but it must also be said that the custodian was purely untimely by the crowd of players just in front of her.

After the interval the Hong Kong Ladies carried out several threatening raids on the St. Andrew's goal but try as they did, they could not increase their score due to the good work put in by Mrs. Harrop.

Right Wing Shines

The right wing combination of the Hong Kong Ladies (the Misses F. Marsh and M. Smalley) were over a source of danger to the St. Andrew's defence, while Miss E. Gray and Miss J. Smalley made a very steady pair of backs. For the losers Miss J. Wong played a very hard-working game at centre-half, while Miss Joy Bosker would perhaps have found the net on more than one occasion, but for weak finishing.

Hong Kong Ladies: Mrs. Lunson; Miss J. Smalley and Miss E. Gray; Miss E. Smalley, Miss M. Bell and Miss B. Helbling; Miss F. Marsh; Miss M. Smalley; Mrs. P. M. Harrop; Miss J. Dalziel and Miss C. Ferguson; St. Andrew's: Mrs. Rose; Miss G. White and Miss R. Stevens; Miss L. George; Miss J. Wong and Miss M. Churn; Miss F. Wong; Mrs. N. Lee; Miss P. Gittins; Miss J. Bosker and Miss I. Gittins.

BRAWN CUP GAME POSTPONED

H.K. Ladies And C.B.S. Share Spoils In Friendly

The Brawn Cup hockey encounter between the Hong Kong Ladies and the Central British Schoolgirls, which should have been played at the Valley yesterday, was indefinitely postponed owing to the non-appearance of the two umpires.

The teams, however, decided to play a friendly fixture which resulted in a drawn game, both sides scoring twice, after the Schoolgirls had led at the interval by two clear goals.

The Schoolgirls did most of the attacking and opened the scoring with a goal by Miss A. Martin, and Miss J. Lakeman added the second soon after.

C.B.A. LADIES HELD TO DRAW BY RECREIO

Lack Of Finish Causes Loss Of Point

MISS I. WOOLLEY OUTSTANDING

Had the C.B.A. Ladies been able to shoot more accurately yesterday in their Caer-Clark match against the Recreio Ladies, they might have won the game, instead of sharing two goals.

Most of the attacking was done by the C.B.A., and the Recreio, with the exception of a few occasions when they managed to burst through played for the majority of the game on the defensive. Miss I. Woolley was the best player in the C.B.A. team, while Miss M. Smith, was very disappointing, although she had had opportunities.

Miss E. Rousseau, the C.B.A. left-winger, made her debut yesterday in an important fixture, and played very soundly throughout. On the other wing Miss R. Blackmore was not seen at her best, mainly because she was over-excited when shooting. For the Recreio: Miss C. Osmund, the right-back, gave a very creditable performance, while in the forward line Miss C. Silva was the only player who was outstanding.

Mrs. M. White opened the scoring for the C.B.A., shortly after the game had commenced; but Miss C. Silva equalised before the interval.

Recreio: Z. Barros; C. Osmund and O. Botelho; M. Alves, L. Xavier and L. Silva-Netto; B. Remedios, E. Rozario, C. Silva, A. Alves and C. Botelho. C. B. A.: F. Best; J. Walker and P. Woolley; P. Everest, M. Bryson and I. Woolley; R. Blackmore, M. Smith; Mrs. White, O. E. Peters and E. Rousseau.

FIVE GOALS FOR MISS BOCKLER

"Y" Ladies Lose To D.G.S. 5 To 1

Miss H. Bockler again distinguished herself yesterday when she scored the five goals that enabled the Diocesan Girls' School to beat the "Y" Ladies' second team in their Brawn Cup hockey match at King's Park.

At half time, the score stood at one goal to nil in favour of the schoolgirls, but after this Miss B. Holloway succeeded in opening the scored for the "Y". Miss Bockler, however, quickly added another four goals.

LINCOLNS AND FUSILIERS SHARE TWO GOALS

A selected team from the Lincolnshire Regiment shared two goals with the Fusiliers' Battalion team when they met in a friendly hockey match at Shamshui yesterday afternoon. Green opened the scoring for the Lincoln in the first half and Thompson equalised shortly before time.

In the second half the H. K. Ladies decreased their deficit through Miss H. Kance, and three minutes before the final whistle drop level with another goal from the same player.

NAVY AVENGE RUGBY DEFEATS BY CLUB THREEQUARTERS MUCH SUPERIOR

ROBERTSON AND BUTCHER SHINE

FIELDING a much improved side, the Navy secured their revenge yesterday when they defeated the Club by two goals and a try (13 points) to two tries (6 points) in their return friendly rugby encounter on the Naval ground, Causeway Bay.

There were numerous fine passing bouts by the Naval forwards, but the Club were poorly served in this department and many opportunities went begging as a result of poor running and wild passing.

Proce, who was seen at scrum-half for the Navy, was much faster than Knox and sent his stand-off half away with perfect passes. He was very fast and very rarely let Mecke have his own way. Mrs. the stand-off half, played at his best and saved the Navy line time and again by smothering a Club movement at the outset.

Lane Very Fast
Lane, who is reputed to be the fastest man in the Services at Home last year, did not belie his reputation, and his try took the Club defence completely by surprise.

Foman was the weak link in the Navy three-quarter line and, hung on to the ball, much too long. Benson and St. Clair Ford were the most dangerous pair on the field and more often than not proved too clever for their opponents.

The Navy forwards were very fit and were always up on the ball in the loose, while their backing-up was splendid.

Skipper Shines

The Club were best served by Robertson, who played a very fine game at full-back, tackling low and invariably—with one exception, when St. Clair Ford eluded him—taking his man, and Butcher, the stand-off half, who cut through on several occasions.

Munro and Bonnar were very poor, the latter passing and handling badly, while Munro took things much too easily. Scott and Feilden made a very good pair on the left, although Lane's speed and swerve more often than not proved too much for the latter.

NOMADS BEAT MULE COUPS

On the Marina ground yesterday afternoon the Nomads beat the Mule Corps by 3 goals to 1 in a friendly hockey match. Reed scored once for the Nomads in the first half, while R. C. Reed netted the other two. Mier Ahmed scored the Mule Corps' only goal.

RADIO BEAT Y.M.C.A.

The Radio beat the Y.M.C.A. by 4 goals to nil when they met in a friendly hockey match at King's Park yesterday afternoon. A. E. P. Guest and Kalwant Singh netted two goals each, all of which were scored in the second half.

3 WINS IN 4 RACES AND DEAD-HEAT WEATHER CONDITIONS FAVOURABLE

SENIOR FOURS WON OVER LAST 200 YARDS

SOME excellent sport and close finishes were seen at North Point yesterday in the Inter-Club rowing regatta between the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club and the Victoria Recreation Club.

The Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club won three of the four races, they competed in, and dead-heated in the other, the Junior Pairs, to score 17½ points as against the Victoria Recreation Club's 3½.

The weather conditions were good, though not perfect for rowing, a strong flood tide helping the oarsmen, but the cross current made good rowing difficult.

In the Junior Fours the Yacht Club got away to a good start. Nooy kept a good stroke and gradually drew away from the V.R.C. to win the race easily by almost 10 lengths.

The Senior pairs provided a very exciting finish and resulted in a win for the Yacht Club by three-quarters of a length. The visitors had a better start, but the Yacht Club caught up over the last quarter mile.

This event was won last year by the Victoria Recreation Club with the same crew.

Dead-Heat Decision
In the Junior Pairs the V.R.C. started well, Silva giving a fine stroke. At the three-quarter mark the V.R.C. were leading by two lengths. Nooy, however, increased his stroke and overtook the V.R.C. boat, but his spurt was timed a fraction too late, and though he actually won by a little less than two feet, the race was declared a dead-heat as the rules required one of the boats to win by at least three feet.

The last race, the Senior fours, the main event of the day, was won by the Yacht Club by three-quarters of a length. The Yacht Club led from the start, but at the half-way mark the V.R.C. caught up and actually led, but over the last 200 yards the Yacht Club's better combination won the event.

At the conclusion of the regatta the prizes were distributed by Mrs. Thackeray, who was introduced by Commodore A. L. Shields.

The following were the results:—
Junior Fours—One mile (Winners 5 points):

1. Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club (R. W. Smith (bow), H. F. G. Chauvin (No. 2), J. E. Potter (No. 3), D. J. Nooy (stroke) and P. L. Leefe (cox).

2. Victoria Recreation Club (C. N. Silva, (bow), A. A. da Rosa (No. 2), E. Cunha (No. 3), P. B. Allen (stroke) and R. Danenberg (cox).
No entry was recovered from the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club.

Junior Pairs—½ Mile (Winner 3 points):

1. Victoria Recreation Club (F. P. Sequeira (bow), L. Silva (stroke) and C. F. Rozario (cox) dead-heated with Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club (J. L. Potter (bow), D. J. Nooy (stroke) and P. L. Leefe (cox).
Senior Fours—One Mile. (Winner 7 points):

1. Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club (A. G. Dalziel (bow), K. Knudson (No. 2), B. L. E. Hebert (No. 3), P. de N. Ramus (stroke) and G. S. P. Heywood (cox).
2. Victoria Recreation Club (M. M. de V. Soares (bow), A. V. Alvarez (No. 2), S. A. Marenal (No. 3), L. A. Soares (stroke) and G. Agabeg (cox).
Final Position—R. H. K. Y. C. 17½ points. V. R. C. 3½ points:—

In a friendly rugby game preceding the first fifteen match at Causeway Bay, the Navy "A" fifteen severely trounced a weakened Club "A" team by 47 points to nil, the broiling sun and all-round superiority of the sailors proving the deciding factors against the Club.

SOCIAL SERVICE IN GERMANY

Help For Large Families

LARGE SUMS BEING DISBURSED

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Kiel, Yesterday.
What the Reich Government is doing to alleviate hardship among the poorer sections of the German population was described by Herr Reinhardt, State Secretary of the Reich Ministry of Finance, when addressing the leading members of the National-Socialist movement and the authorities in Schleswig-Holstein yesterday.

After repeating a review of the general financial outlook of the Reich made the day before in another speech, Herr Reinhardt dealt with the manner and operation of the law for assisting marriage, declaring that from now onwards 15,000 to 20,000 couples monthly would receive loans to enable them to start housekeeping.

Since the last National-Socialist Party congress at Nuremberg last September, the contributions being paid by the State to help large families provided for the children of 780,000 families in Germany having more than four children. Of these all with six or more under 10 years old would be given aid this year, while in 1936 all families with more than four would receive help as needed. At present 7,500 families obtained payments each of 400 marks.

By Christmas this year over 20,000,000 marks would have been distributed in this way, that is, 50,000 families each receiving 400 marks. Applications must be made through the municipal authorities and examined by the Ministry of Finance.

"The State finances are in perfect order," concluded Herr Reinhardt.—Trans-Ocean Service.

ALLEGED AID FOR TERRORISTS

Lithuanian Denials Discounted

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Warsaw, Yesterday.

A Polish telegraphic agency issues the following statement: "The official Lithuanian telegraphic agency 'Elita' has published an announcement denying the truth of the facts set forth in the chargesheet against the murderer of M. Piorackis, and also denying that Ukrainian terrorists received support from official Lithuanian quarters.

"In view of the particulars set forth by the prosecution these denials must be regarded as a tactical manoeuvre, since incontrovertible proofs are on hand that the former Lithuanian Foreign Minister, M. Zauris, maintained close relationships with the Ukrainian terrorists, and that these people were hereby granted considerable support."—Trans-Ocean Service.

CABINET RESIGNS IN BULGARIA

Foreign Minister Takes Over Reins

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Sofia, Yesterday.

The Tosehoff Cabinet resigned at midday today. When M. Tosehoff, who had an audience of the King at 11 o'clock, left the palace he told pressmen that this step was caused by the resignation of the Minister of Transport, M. Kojusharoff, to-day, following the resignation of the Minister of Finance, M. Rissakoff, a few days ago.

The formation of a new Cabinet has been entrusted to M. Kuussovannov, Foreign Minister in the Tosehoff Cabinet and formerly Chief of the Royal Chancellery.—Trans-Ocean Service.

GERMAN BAN LIFTED FROM TWO BRITISH PAPERS

Juan Trippe, of Pan American Airways, handing Postmaster-General James A. Farley the company's formal bid to carry mail across the Pacific in the new passenger liners which brought China within a week of the Pacific coast, beginning on November 8 last. The bid was $2 a mile for the first 800 pounds, plus $1 per pound per 1,000 miles.

was only the brilliance of Rodger that kept them from doubling their lead.

Junior Forward Shines

Evans, brought in from the junior team, was the best forward on view. His amazing speed and opportunism, and ability to shoot with either foot, made him the most dangerous attacker the Fusiliers had. His display at left-half during the second period, was equally as brilliant, and he is indeed a player worth watching.

The accurate and methodical passing among the forwards and halves, and the swiftness with which they carried out their movements, left the Club breathless. Talbot stood out head and shoulders in the intermediate line. His coolness and clever distribution, coupled with deadly tackling and clever ball control were features of a faultless display.

In defence, the Fusiliers more than held their own. Keating and Wheeler having a perfect understanding.

Two Goals in 8 Minutes

The game opened at a tremendous pace, and two goals came within the first eight minutes. An opening created by Hill enabled E. Strange to slip the ball past Keating to Elliot, who beat Rowlands from close range to place the Club ahead after six minutes.

Two minutes later, however, the Fusiliers were on level terms. Following an exciting scramble in the Club goalmouth, during which Rodger and his backs blocked almost a dozen quick shots on the goal-line, Evans secured and flashed the ball into the net.

Following up this success, Hughes sent in a fast drive which Rodger punched out to Evans, but the inside-left's first-time effort went over the bar. Seconds later another shot by the same player, from point-blank range, was stopped by Rodger, though more by luck than judgment!

Two Close Shaves

Shortly before the interval, E. Strange had two good efforts for very close, but a third chance which came his way, and from which he should have scored, saw him slip over the ball in front of goal!

Eight minutes before the interval Ellis left the field with an ankle injury, and did not resume. Evans dropping back to left-half.

The Club opened this half well, and twice Elliott went close with good attempts. A long pass out to Hughes by Talbot gave the Fusiliers right-winger a chance, and, beating Sid Strange for possession, he passed in to Sullivan who converted with a well directed shot.

A solo run by Roberts, in which he outpaced both the Club backs, looked likely to produce a goal, but again Rodger saved in splendid style.

Club's Last Effort

Fighting hard to get on level terms, the Club threw everything into a last determined attack, and managed to keep the ball in the Fusiliers area for a considerable spell. But with the resolute Fusiliers

LINCOLNS AND SOUTH CHINA "A" IN LAST MEETING

Sound Half-Backs

The return of Lee Kwok-wai and Leung Wing-chiu to the wing-half position should consolidate the Chinese intermediate line and both the military wings will now be given a difficult time of things. In Pak-wai will return to the inside-left berth, thus re-forming the original lineup which trounced the Navy three weeks ago. South China "B" have made no changes and are favourite against Stonecutters, whom they should beat easily.

Saints' Task

The Saints hope to make up for lost ground this afternoon when they meet Lyemun, but the latter are now not as weak as when they commenced the season, and are quite capable of holding their own today.

There is only one Second Division game down for decision, between South China and the Eastern. These two teams have not yet shown any consistency and, although South China are favoured to win, the Eastern are quite likely to spring a surprise.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE HELD BY R.E.O.C.A.

The third dance organised by the Royal Engineers' Old Comrades' Association, which was held in the China Fleet Club last night, was an even greater success than the two held previously, there being nearly 100 couples on the floor. The music was provided by the band of the Lincolnshire Regiment, and dancing continued until a late hour.

WEEKLY WHIST DRIVE

The weekly whist drive of the Sailors' and Soldiers' Home, held last night, was well attended. Mrs. R. Hunt and Mr. J. Pigott won the principal prizes.

Her defence effectively blocking all moves down the centre, few scoring chances came the Club's way, and it was not long before the Fusiliers took a share in attacking.

A harmless looking pass out to Roberts by Talbot, which the left-winger secured almost on the line, saw him pass the ball in to Sullivan, unmarked in front of goal, and the latter easily beat Rodger to place the Fusiliers three goals up.

The final whistle ended a fine game, greatly enjoyed by a somewhat small attendance, and gave the Fusiliers two well merited points.

Club: Rodger; Skyes and G. Strange; Skinner, Forrow and G. Skerret; Fowler, Elliott, E. Strange, Hill and Beckford.
Fusiliers: Rowlands; Wheeler and Keating; Wanklyn, Talbot and Elliot; Hughes, Harrison, Sullivan, Evans and Roberts.

FREE FARE WINS

Manchester November Handicap

PEGOMAS SENSATION

London, Yesterday.
Free Fare, ridden by Sammy Wragg, won the Manchester November Handicap to-day when he beat Thrapston (Rickaby) by five lengths in a field of 19 starters. Jeamond Dene (Steve Donoghue) was third, 1½ lengths behind Thrapston.

The betting was 22 to 1 Free Fare, 100 to 8 Thrapston, 25 to 1 Jeamond Dene.

Three-Time Lucky

Free Fare's win was a question of third-time lucky, as the horse ran second in 1933 and third in 1934. On both occasions he appeared certain to win, but swerved badly when near the post, thus losing his connections a small fortune. This year the horse was most generous and won in a canter.

Crawley Wood, a 7-2 favourite, was not in the first ten.

A last-minute sensation was caused when it was announced that Pegomas, which was heavily supported overnight, had not been declared owing to an oversight. The trainer said that another person, instructed to do so, had misunderstood the instructions, and told Reuter: "It was a terrible blow, as I thought the horse would be a certain winner."

Reuter understands that Pegomas's connection had invested £500 in ante-post betting.—Reuter.

Last-Minute Change

Earlier: A last-minute change was made in the list of probable starters, Perryman displacing Beasley as Astyanax's jockey.

Pegomas (Ryan) and Coup-de-Roi (Barber) were scratched.

The full list of probable starters was as follows:—
E. B. Bennett (Weston), Astyanax (Perryman), Thrapston (Rickaby), Romney II (Sirett), Mistral (Dineen), Soleris (Richardson), London Fog (Cordell), Cariff (Nevett), Jeamond Dene (Steve Donoghue), Sea Bequest (E. Smith), The Font (Beary), Free Fare (Sammy Wragg), Chrysler II (Gordon Richards), Crawley Wood (Lane), Bacchus (D. Smith), Mistral III (Sirett), Samokand (Clifford Richards), Newton Ford (Humphrey Foster), Latol (Couch), Labour Member (Sharpe).—Reuter.

People who were at the Kowloon-Canton Railway Station between 11.30 a.m. and 12 noon yesterday are wondering whether the railway authorities are contemplating entertaining the passengers with music in future while they are waiting on the platform, for during that half hour yesterday a series of gramophone records were transmitted through the loud speaker which is ordinarily used to inform the passengers about the various train schedules.

SHARKEY KNOCKS OUT NEGRO

Stormy Encounter In Comeback Campaign

CROWD RUSHES THE RING

Paston, Yesterday.
Jack Sharkey, former heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, had an easy but stormy encounter in the first of his comeback fights. His negro opponent, Eddie Winston, went down for a count of 10 at the end of the first round after a brace of left uppercuts.

The referee decided that Winston was not trying, and agreed to allow the fight to continue after the enraged and yelling crowd had surged towards the ring.

Sharkey then immediately launched a two-fisted volley to the head of the negro, who was floored for the full count.—Reuter.

Sharkey, the "Boston Gob," won the world title on a doubtful points decision from Max Schmeling, but was knocked out in the sixth round by Primo Carnera in a championship bout in June last year.

OIL FROM COAL INCREASED OUTPUT AT BILLINGHAM

London, Yesterday.

Describing the progress in extracting oil from coal at the hydrogenation plant of the north-east coast before the Institution of Electrical Engineers to-day, Mr. Kenneth Gordon, who is in charge of the plant, said that in six years the coal treated had increased from 10 tons to 4,000 tons daily. The total consumption of coal at Soleris (Richardson), London Fog (Cordell), Cariff (Nevett), Jeamond Dene (Steve Donoghue), Sea Bequest (E. Smith), The Font (Beary), Chrysler II (Gordon Richards), Crawley Wood (Lane), Bacchus (D. Smith), Mistral III (Sirett), Samokand (Clifford Richards), Newton Ford (Humphrey Foster), Latol (Couch), Labour Member (Sharpe).—Reuter.

For petrol production alone 500,000 tons of coal were being consumed. The first batch of finished petrol left on April 9 of this year, and shipments had been made regularly since.

He had no doubt that the Billingham plant finally would have an output considerably in excess of the present figure.—British Wireless Service.

FINANCE MEASURES IN FRANCE

Commission Makes Poor Start

Paris, Yesterday.

The Finance Commission of the Chamber made an unpromising beginning in its efforts to compose its differences and frame an agreed motion for submission to the Chamber. At one stage the Radical chairman, M. Malvy, walked out. He was induced to return, but the differences were not healed when the Commission adjourned to next Wednesday.—Reuter.

Yesterday they spent the whole day in visiting the various film studios in the Colony and they will probably leave for Canton on Wednesday at the latest.

COMMENTARIES ON TRAINS

Development Of New Device

BLATTNERPHONE PROCESS

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Berlin, Yesterday.

A running commentary on objects of interest in the district through which the passengers are travelling, interspersed with musical or humorous items when the landscapes are dull, may add zest to railway journeys in Germany in future, if experiments now being carried out can be successfully put into practice.

For many years it has been known that speech and music can be recorded on steel wire by ring-netting it along its length in varying degrees corresponding to the fluctuating electric currents produced by a microphone connected in circuit with an electro-magnet. The Danish physicist Poulsen first made such experiments away back in 1881. Instruments constructed on this principle, however, have remained very imperfect until recent years, when the Blattnerphone and other instruments have been introduced by German inventors.

The apparatus has now been further developed to allow reproduction in trains, and the travelling public can thus look forward to the time when an additional inducement to travel will be provided by the railway companies.—Trans-Ocean Service.

FRANCO-GERMAN RELATIONS

Poland Shows Great Interest

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Warsaw, Yesterday.

"Improvement in Franco-German relations" is the tone of the heavy headlines on the front pages of all sections of the Polish press, which publishes extraordinarily lengthy excerpts from the newspapers in London, Paris and Berlin.

The Polish press itself abstains almost entirely from an expression of opinion, but the amount of space devoted to the reporting of the conversation between Herr Hitler and M. Francols-Poncet, French Ambassador in Berlin, and the reaction in other capitals, indicates how intense the interest is in Poland.—Trans-Ocean Service.

LONDON'S TRAFFIC IMPROVEMENTS

£35,000,000 To Be Expended

London, Yesterday.
Work on the eastward extension for a further 10 miles of Central London Tube Railway, which is part of the £35,000,000 programme of improvements to be undertaken by the London Passenger Transport Board, will begin as soon as the royal assent has been given to the Board's new bill in the coming Parliamentary session.

Other important features of the scheme include the introduction of more than 100 miles of trolley-bus routes, extensions of other underground railways, building of many new stations and modernisation of existing ones. When completed London's transport facilities will be vastly improved and speeded up and the suburbs will be adequately linked up with the central areas.—British Wireless Service.

FABULOUS ANIMALS OF CHINA

THE DIVINE PHOENIX

POSSESSOR OF THE FIVE CARDINAL VIRTUES

(By PHYLLIS JUBY)

IN the past the Phoenix was the particular attribute of the Empress and always related to womanhood and feminine affairs. In poetry there are frequent references to the Dragon and the Phoenix: "From the pine forest the Azure Dragon ascends the Milky Way; from the fragrant wu-tang the crimson Phoenix aspires to the variegated cloud." There are many poetical allusions made too to the inseparable fellowship of the male and female Phoenix. So great is this fellowship that the Phoenix has come to be an emblem of conjugal fidelity, and jade girdle ornaments, with double Phoenixes, are frequently given as love-tokens between husband and wife. At Chinese weddings the Phoenix is worn on the bride's hood and called the "Phoenix cap". Its special significance being "inseparable fellowship." It represents the negative Yin qualities, while the Dragon, worn by the groom, represents the qualities of the positive Yang.

Yet, as though the Chinese could not bear to leave this divine bird entirely female in significance, it is looked upon as the product of the sun, the active male principle in nature, and credited with having great influence in the begetting of children. It is often represented in art as gazing on the sun or on a ball of fire.

Appearance Described
This mysterious bird, appearing only in times of peace and prosperity, comes from the East, the Realm of Sages. It is described as adorned with every colour and combines in its form and motions the beauty, grace, elegance, and charm of all birds; while it possesses so benevolent a disposition that it will never peck or injure living insects, nor tread on growing herbs. It bathes only in the limpid waters of the clearest fountains, flies above the mountainous homes of the gods and geni and, if it descends to the level of ordinary birds, they swarm about it until the earth becomes dark as during an eclipse. At night it rests in the caves of the Vermilion Rock.

It is described as "representing a wild swan before and a unicorn behind; it has the throat of a swallow, the bill of a cock, the neck of a snake, the tail of a fish, the forehead of a crane, the crown of a mandarin drake, the stripes of a dragon, the vaulted back of a tortoise. The feathers have five colours, which are named after the five cardinal virtues, and it is five cubits in height; the tail is graduated like Pandean pipes, and its song resembles the music of that instrument, having five modulations." Its song when low is like the tolling of a temple bell and, when high, soft and mellow. Long spiral plumes at times rise from its head and at the base of its neck it has a beautiful ruff of silken feathers. The ideographs of the five cardinal virtues, uprightness, honesty, justice, fidelity and benevolence, are found inscribed on its body.

Its Many Attributes
But the Chinese mystics see more than gorgeous plumage and flamellike appendages. They say: "Its head is like heaven; its eyes like the sun; its back like the crescent moon; its wings like the wind; its tail like the trees and plants, and its feet like the earth. Its colour delights the eyes; its comb expresses righteousness; its tongue utters sincerity; its voice chants melody; its ears enjoy music; its heart conforms to regulations; its breast contains treasures of literature, and its spurs are powerful against the transgressor."

However that may be, its lithe body, its long flowing tail and graceful wings make it a most decorative creature and one well suited to act as a symbol of femininity.

The Five Families
According to one authority there are five different families of the Phoenix, each belonging to one of the Five Directions. The one at the East is the Light-issuing Phoenix; that at the South, the Light-burning; at the West, the Sovereign Frost; at the North, the Concealed Growth; in the Centre, the Essence of Fire. Queen Hsi Wang Mu of the Western Paradise is often depicted floating among clouds on the back of a phoenix, and variants from the supreme bird are used as messengers and celestial region.

The Taoists generally represented their immortals as being borne from their celestial abodes on the back of the Divine Phoenix; and they believed, too, that their goal, the Western Paradise, was inaccessible except to the sages who were transported there on the back of that bird. According to tradition, there lay between this world and the Western Paradise a great desert that was inhabited by such monstrous and dangerous animals that only the swiftest of all birds could cross it.

Imperial Visitors
The appearance of the Phoenix, a most auspicious augury, was over most rare. Only on the advent of a virtuous ruler did the Phoenix leave its celestial abode and appear. The Bamboo Books tell of Hwang-ti, (B.C. 2097-2597): "While the Emperor was sitting in a boat near the Loh, there came together Phoenixes, male and female. Some of them abode in the Emperor's eastern garden; some built their nests in the ornate galleries of the palace, and some sang in the courtyard, the females gambolling to the notes of the males."

The Book of History records A.D. 1868.

When the cares of State press heaviest, Premier Mussolini, shown landing at Rome, seeks relief among the clouds in his own plane. His sons, Bruno and Vittorio, are flying with the Italian bombing squadron over the Ethiopian front.

HUNGARIAN MINES TO BE WORKED

Manganese Ore For Germany

Berlin.—The famous Hungarian mines of manganese ore at Urkut are to be re-opened, after a three-year period of inactivity, by the use of German capital, according to the National Zeitung.

The majority of the shares in the Hungarian undertaking are in the hands of the Deutscher Bank of Berlin, and the whole output will be absorbed by German industry.

The compounds that can be extracted from manganese ore can, among other things, be used for the manufacture of explosives. Germany at one time drew her manganese supplies from mines in the Ural Mountains, but these are no longer available. The Urkut mines contain the most important deposits in Europe.—Reuter.

NUDISTS SCURRY BEHIND TREES

While Plane Obliging Flies Low

New York, N.Y.—Pilots of the American Airlines Co. have been officially instructed to abandon their practice of flying low over nudist colonies.

The instructions were issued after Mr. C. R. Smith, the President of the company, noticed that the aeroplane in which he was travelling came down low over a nudist colony in Indiana while many of the passengers peered out through field glasses.

In answer to Mr. Smith's questions the pilot said that all planes regularly flew low over the colony, the practice having been begun at the request of some regular passengers who "liked to see the nudists scurry behind trees."—Reuter.

that the music of Sun not only moved spirits and men, but even caused the male and female Phoenix to come "with their measured gambollings into the court."

Under the early Han dynasty (B.C. 206-220) there is the first historical record of official worship being offered to the Phoenix. A body of Phoenixes appeared, apparently to congratulate the new Emperor on his accession to the throne, officials were ordered to make a thank-offering, while the overjoyed Emperor granted a general amnesty.

The official history of the Chin dynasty records that in the Third Century A.D. during the reign of Shih Hu, a Phoenix with a brood of nine took up its abode in the Imperial gardens. Shih Hu trained them to act as carrier doves, and in honour of their services all Imperial edicts were written in the five colours of the bird and were known as "phoenix messages."

The last advent of the Phoenix is said to have occurred on the occasion of the Imperial power passing into the hands of the founder of the Ming dynasty in A.D. 1368.

FORD'S STARTLING PRODUCTION

1,000,000 NEW CARS IN TEN MONTHS

RIVER ROUGE PLANT MAKES NEW OUTPUT RECORD

On October 31 Henry Ford made good his promise of a year ago to build 1,000,000 Ford cars in 1935.

He did better than that. He built 1,000,000 cars in ten months. Total production for the full year 1935 will probably run to 1,180,000.

One year ago on October 31 a newspaperman asked Mr. Ford about his plans for the coming year.

"Can I print that?" asked the newspaperman, conscious that he had a story of world-wide interest.

"Sure," said Ford. "You may say 1,000,000 cars or better."

Preparations

In most of the raw material markets and the financial centres Ford's statement was taken as the first solid evidence that American industry was pulling out of the depression. In other quarters the proposition of putting 1,000,000 new cars into the automobile market in 1935 was considered fantastic.

During the last weeks of 1934, the Ford Industries were got in order for the new production schedule. During the whole of December raw materials came in trainloads. On January 2 the River Rouge plant opened up after the holiday shut-down. The first motor off the line that morning bore the number 1,336,770. Production rose steadily and the whole automotive industry and the public generally have watched with interest the monthly announcements to see if Henry Ford would make it.

The Millionth Car

On the afternoon of October 31, as Henry Ford and Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, looked on, a black Ford sedan came down the assembly line. It looked like all other cars of its model. But under its hood was engine number 2,336,770. It was the one millionth Ford unit made in the United States since January 1 this year.

"And how about next year?" A newspaperman asked Henry Ford. "Well," he said, smiling broadly, "you can just say we'll make all we can sell and sell all we can make."

Canadian production in the first ten months of the year added 68,000 more to the 1,000,000.

Mr. Edsel Ford announced that total world production of the Ford Motor Company, since it was organised in 1903 to September 1 this year, was 23,308,634 units.

"DOOMSDAY BOOK" OF HEALTH

"Pedigrees" To Be Kept In Germany

Berlin.—A kind of "Doomsday Book of Health" is to be instituted in Germany, in which the state of health of all members of either sex of the National-Socialist Party is to be recorded over a number of years.

Twenty thousand Aryan doctors have been detailed to make the necessary physical examinations under a scheme approved by the German Labour Front, the National Health Office and the Social Insurance Office.

A big drive is to be made to create "a health-conscious and prolific nation." Not only will the State therefore have an accurate idea of the present forces of the people by means of this "monster list of health pedigrees," but, it is stated, individuals will be able to help the nation by the development of their health to its highest pitch.—Reuter.

THE DE LUXE FORD

BRITISH MADE

Economy of Purchase, Operation and Maintenance is but one of a score of arguments in favour of your selection, for your own, your staffs, or your household's use, of the De Luxe Ford (10 H.P.).

It is a light car "de luxe," inexpensive to buy and insure, and — in relation to its performance, seating-accommodation, equipment and finish — quite disproportionately inexpensive to run and keep in A-1 condition, year after year.

Forget your conception of light cars in general.

Imagine a car designed and built to your own specification, built, moreover, of the finest material money can buy, a full 100 per cent. British, a picture aesthetically, and the very last word in mechanical efficiency.

You have then merely an approximation of the De Luxe Ford.

Definitely, Emphatically, "There is no Comparison!"

The Local Ford Dealer will gladly demonstrate its competence to fulfil your every requirement, or furnish you with detailed specifications

GROWING DEMAND FOR AUTONOMY

JAPANESE INFLUENCE IN NORTHERN PROVINCES?

ATTACKS ON POLITICAL DOMINATION OF KUOMINTANG PARTY

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Tientsin, Yesterday.

Under Japanese auspices, the self-government movement in North China was apparently still in existence throughout the northern provinces to-night. Attacks on the political domination of the Kuomintang Party were launched from various sources as demands were made that the Nanking Government should grant autonomy to the North China provinces.

The first development in the self-government movement was reported by Rengo's Peiping correspondent, who said that Mr. Yin Ju-keng, Administrative Commissioner there, ordered the zone to be demilitarised and demanded that the Nanking Government should grant the Northern provinces complete autonomy.

SINO-JAPANESE RELATIONS

Disapproval Of Speech By Gen. Chiang

BOIHARA DISPLEASURES

Canton, Yesterday.—"We hope General Chiang Kalshek will achieve real victory," commented the official Ming Pao yesterday concerning his meeting with Mr. Akira Ariyoshi, Japanese Ambassador, "so that Sino-Japanese relations will be regularised."

The journal pointed out that the Chinese people are at a loss to understand the meaning of General Chiang's speech before the Congress, but hinted disapproval of the doctrine of perseverance and forbearance, when the loss of the five Northern provinces is imminent.

"EMBARRASSING"

Nanking: Mr. Akira Ariyoshi, Japanese Ambassador to China, left here last night for Shanghai after another conference with Mr. Tang Yu-jen, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Tang is reported to have urged the Japanese Ambassador not to precipitate a crisis in North China, which is very embarrassing to General Chiang Kalshek during the session of the Fifth Congress.

The Japanese War Office has realised that the efforts to carve away North China during the gathering of all the important leaders from different parts of the country is inopportune, as they will solidly unite against the Japanese aggression. As a result, Major-General Kenji Doihara is blamed for starting the autonomy movement.—Union News.

ANTI-AIR ATTACK DEFENCE

Propaganda In Nanking

Nanking Yesterday.—An Anti-air Defence Week will be held here beginning from tomorrow. In order to propagate publicity work, the local student bodies have been organised into 39 units. A display of first aid work will be staged to-morrow morning at the Municipal Athletic Ground.

The public oration and essay contests among the middle and primary schools, with regard to the Anti-air Defence Week, have already been carried out.—Central News Agency.

Deplored what he termed the maladministration of the Kuomintang, Mr. Yin, who is well known for his pro-Japanese sentiments, addressed a circular telegram to General Sung Che-yuan, the garrison commander at Tientsin in the Peiping region, and to General Shang Chen, Governor of Hopei Province, and others. He urged that there was no way of saving North China's 30,000,000 people other than by complete severance from the Kuomintang.

Kwantung Army Movements

The activity of the Kwantung Army troops along the North China border to-day caused new alarm among the Chinese, as reports indicated a growing tension in Sino-Japanese relations.

Additional trains arriving in Shanhaiwan with troops, field pieces, horses, tanks and other military equipment brought the total at present in Shanhaiwan to 11 troop trains, two armoured trains and 5,000 soldiers.

It was confirmed that 10,000 Kwantung troops were concentrated at Chinchow, in addition to those at Shanhaiwan.

Chinese reports indicated increased concentration of Japanese troops on the Manchoukuo border near Dolonor.—Union News.

OFFICIALS MEET IN CANTON

MANY QUESTIONS DISCUSSED

Canton, Yesterday.—Fifty important officials, representing army, navy and air organisations, attended the Military Affairs Meeting which was held here under the chairmanship of General Chan Chai-long. The following questions were minutely discussed:—Increasing the strength of the various military forces, establishing additional navy and air forces, the organisation of defence works at strategic areas in the provinces, whether to retain or abolish the various pacification areas, and the entire re-organisation of police training.—Neutral News.

"ALL BLACKS" DEFEAT SCOTLAND 18-8

40,000 WITNESS MATCH UNDER IDEAL CONDITIONS

London, Yesterday.

A crowd of 40,000 saw the New Zealanders beat Scotland by 18 points to 8 at Murrayfield this afternoon, after having held a 13 to 3 lead at half-time.

The teams were unchanged, Lambourn turning out for the "All Blacks."

The ground was slightly soft and weather conditions were ideal. An early thrill was provided when the Scots almost scored from the start. After 15 minutes, however, Dick, who was brilliant throughout, passed to Fyfe who outpaced the defence for a try. Fyfe's kick failed.

At this stage Murdoch went off as the result of an injury and during his absence, following a bout of magnificent passing, Caughey went over for Gilbert to convert and thus give the visitors a two-point lead.

Scotland rallied following the return of Murdoch, but Hadley went over for New Zealand, Gilbert again converting.

A great effort by Logan was spoiled when Dick held on to the ball too long, but the visitors would not be denied, Caughey going over for an unconverted try.

The "All Blacks" led by 13 points to 3 at the interval, and fully deserved their lead as they made the most of their opportunities and wasted few passes.

DICK GOES OVER
After the resumption, Logan, Shaw and Dick were featured in a fine movement resulting in Dick going over between the posts for Murdoch to convert.
Owing to close tackling neither side were able to get to close quarters.

A few minutes from the finish, following a clever breakaway by Sadler, who was supported by Mitchell and Caughey, the latter crossed over for a try, Gilbert converting for the third time.

A last desperate effort by the Scots failed a yard from the line, and the "All Blacks" won by 18 points to 8.

SCOTS FINE RALLY

After looking like a beaten side at half-time, the Scots rallied grandly in the second-half and the game might have gone either way until the last 10 minutes, and, but for dropped passes the Scots might have scored several times. This showed that a team cannot afford to make mistakes against the New Zealanders, who made the most of wild passes, and it was undoubtedly their superior combination which won the day.

Prominent for the "All Blacks" were Sadler, Caughey, Mitchell, Hart, Manchester, the captain, and Reid, while Beattie, Thom, Waters and Lambie were the equal of their opposite numbers.—Reuter.

Last night the Scottish Union gave a free dinner. Not only were the New Zealand team entertained but for the evening all the survivors of the Scottish team who played in the first match against New Zealand, exactly 30 years ago, were the guests of the Union.

Of the Scottish team the famous Bedell-Stirling, known and feared as "Old Dicky," L. M. McLeod, brother of K.G., and "Kimo" Simson are dead, but all the others are alive.

They include an M.P. in Pat Munro, the former Governor of Khartoum, and a social celebrity in Sir Louis Greig.

The following are the remaining International Rugby Union matches this season:

December 7: Ireland v New Zealand at Dublin.
December 21: Wales v New Zealand at Cardiff.
January 4: England v New Zealand at Twickenham.
January 18: Wales v England at Swansea.
February 1: Scotland v Wales at Edinburgh.
February 8: Ireland v England at Dublin.
February 22: Scotland v Ireland at Edinburgh.
March 14: Wales v Ireland at Cardiff.
March 21: England v Scotland (Calcutta Cup) Twickenham.

WEATHER REPORT

The anticyclone over China and Mongolia has increased in intensity; pressure is highest to the north-west of Shantung. North-east winds, fresh; fair, was the forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory yesterday.

VIOLENT STORMS IN ITALY

30 DEATHS FROM FLOODS
Rome, Earlier.
So far there have been at least 30 deaths from a flood in South Italy. The railways in various parts are interrupted owing to washaways, and there is six feet of water in some parts of the towns of Messina and Brindisi.

The stormy conditions threatened disappointment to Greek population which has flocked to Athens to welcome the King to-morrow. The King embarked on the Greek cruiser Helle here, but it was unable to leave the harbour.—Reuter.
